Bedell asked for tough evaluation

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Romulus School Superintendent Dr. William Bedell has been directed by his seven-member school board "to develop and implement an evaluation process for all professional staff members."

The board stung by recent media attention on the poor local Michigan Education Assessment Program (MEAP) test scores even after the district spent $45 million to upgrade its massive computer system several years ago, stated "the message is to be loud and clear."

> "The board really pulled together on this matter, and demanded that an answer be given to the board members..."
> - Sandra Langley

To add to the impact of the letter, it was signed by all seven board members and was hand delivered by Sandra Langley

The other board members include: Debra Hoffman, vice president; Kenneth Berlinn, secretary; Judith A. Gondek, treasurer; Howard J. Kesner, Julie A. Oleszkowicz and Pat Patterson, trustees.

Langley read the letter at the Romulus School Board meeting.

The session was conducted as usual at the same time as the Romulus City Council meeting and thus no media representative was in attendance and no cable television coverage was offered.

The limited knowledge of this school board latest action added fuel to the cry that the school board and council meetings should be conducted on different nights.

The Feb. 24 board letter reported that the board had met on Feb. 21 (minus Bedell) and discussed various district issues.

Langley revealed that the over riding issue that surfaced at that meeting was accountability.

"The board really pulled together on this matter," Langley said, and demanded that an answer be given to the board members at the upcoming March 13 meeting.

Langley said the school trustees feel "Romulus students deserve the very best" and as a board wants to work as a team with the administration and teaching staff to guarantee that supreme efforts will be made to accomplish that desire."

An informational glitch apparently developed, as Bedell revealed that a new tenure system was completed recently and a new teacher evaluation program was started earlier this year.

Information on both new programs will be outlined to the board at the next meeting.

Langley said she has been in conversation with Bedell in the past week and "he is fully prepared to provide the information we are requesting."

Raspberry House
Lilly told to query administration

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

After another heated debate on a home that veteran Councilman Jimmie Raspberry obtained in 1990, critic-taxpayer R.P. Lilly was told to get whatever permit discrepancy information he needed from Mayor Beverly McAnally and the city building department.

Lilly has been complaining in recent weeks that Raspberry needs to display a proper site plan for the home he obtained from Best Way Recycling Inc. in 1990, as well as various permits and a certificate of occupancy.

Monday night he complained to Councilman Ellis Pennington, "I've done everything that you asked me to do in the past to get the council to act on this issue. An yet you still are dressing me down for the action."

Pennington insisted that the council's role in city government is to create the ordinances and it is the administration's role to enforce them.

"If the Building Department sees permit violations, then it should act to enforce the city's laws," the councilman said.

Pennington said he agreed with Lilly and other RECAP members that no council member or city employee should be exempt from the law, but he strongly explained to Lilly, "You are asking the wrong people to address this issue."

Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks also advised Lilly to consult with members of the McAnally administration if he is seeking any investigation into the Raspberry house purchase, move and permit process.

Councilman William Wadsworth said he feels that someone is trying to hide something in this matter. He urged McAnally and the city building department to supply the council with some type of report on this matter, so that the council meetings can get beyond the house issue.

Raspberry complained that he didn't like the innuendoes presented by Lilly on this matter.

He held up what was listed as a site plan filed with Wayne County and claimed he had all the permits needed on the matter. But insisted that he did not need to answer Lilly on what he considered his personal life issues.

"By continually battling with me, you are not getting the well issue solved. And as I have said repeatedly in the past, I am not a spokesman for EDS. I am a supporter of a settlement on this issue as it is costing the city entirely too much money," Raspberry said.

Procession planned

Three Romulus pastors have joined in the planning for the annual Good Friday Procession in downtown Romulus and Christian religious service outside the Wayne Wesleyan Church at Five Points. The march and hymn singing along Goddard Road will begin at noon near the railroad tracks. Publisher offers to mediate key deepwell issues

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Mayor Beverly McAnally enthusiastically passed on to the Romulus City Council Romulus Roman Publisher Mike Wilcox's offer to serve as mediator in the current deep well dispute Monday night.

Wilcox sent the letter dated March 3 to McAnally stating, "I think it would be very helpful if you or a representative chosen by the City Council were to sit down with Doug Wicklund (president of Environmental Disposal Systems) or a representative of EDS and try to negotiate a settlement to this issue."

Wilcox added, "I believe nothing is to be gained by either party if the present course continues - mudslinging, frivolous lawsuits, etc."

The local publisher said, "I make this offer, not because I have anything to gain by the resolution of this conflict, but because I would like to see the city get on with other opportunities that will have a far greater impact on the well being of this great city.

"I am not an accomplished mediator. I am only a neutral party that believes good can be accomplished if the two sides are informally brought together," Wilcox's letter concluded.

McAnally told the council Monday night that she had included "Wilcox's generous offer" in their packets and urged them to read the letter and decide what step the city should take in the matter.

"I have not had much success with these people (EDS)," McAnally said, "and thus await your decision."

The first citizen speaker of the night, Dorothy Nessler, also spoke on the need for the city to compromise on the well issue and make the best of a bad situation.

Mayor Beverly McAnally

Otherwise, Nessler said, "Romulus could possibly face bankruptcy or annexation."

Numerous others spoke out forcefully and sometimes angrily at the meeting despite the requests by some to stop the finger pointed and name calling.

One speaker compared Wicklund with Iraq leader Saddam Hussein and another complained of the danger of chemicals such as Agent Orange during the Vietnam War days.

Debby Romak, a member of Romulus Environmentalists Caring About People (RECAP) group, concluded the meeting by showing the public some creative uses for pro-injection well advertisements.

"First my daughter used the paper to cut out paper dolls, and my son made airplanes. My favorites though," Romak said, "are lining bird cages and using them to train puppies."

Out-of-town boy seeks city news

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A fifth-grade student from Kearney, Neb. is seeking an assortment of information on life in Romulus for his school project.

Jared Dingle, 11, wrote to the Romulus Roman newspaper last week to inform residents that he attends Northeast Elementary School in Kearney and needs to "gather all the information that he possibly can about Romulus" in preparation for his school's state fair.

Each student was asked to adopt a different state and to make the shape of the state out of clay. Each was also required to obtain information to answer questions about the state at the fair.

"I chose your state because I like the Wolverines and have heard a lot of good things about Michigan," Dingle wrote.

"Here is some information that would help me: fun places to visit, brochures, post cards, poster or map of your city or state, or any special items that pertain to your city or state," Dingle added.

The young student also added the following personal information: I am an 11-year-old boy who loves sports. I play on a competitive traveling soccer team that has been very successful.

"I also play football, baseball, roller hockey and basketball," he said.

Dingle said he would really appreciate help from Romulus readers.

Any information should be mailed to Jared Dingle, 3818 Ave. G, Kearney, Neb. 68847.

March 9, 1995

Citizens of Romulus . . .

Many of you have read or heard Mayor Beverly McAnally's statements asserting that our deep injection well was only to be a "test well." In order to rebut her ridiculous statement, we wish to advise you of the following:

During our early meetings with Mayor McAnally and her staff in the summer and fall of 1990, we described our project as being a "series of hurdles" which we would have to clear. If, at any point, we stumbled and could not clear the next "hurdle," the project would die. These "hurdles" were described as:

FIRST: We would have to acquire a piece of property on which to drill the well. In early November, 1990, after looking at several sites in Romulus, we acquired a purchase option on property owned by John and Mary Ann Ryznar. Immediately after acquiring the option, we met with Mayor McAnally and informed her of the location. She approved of the location because "it was so remote."

SECOND: We would have to prepare an in-depth geological study for the EPA and DNR that would explain why the geology underlying the property we had selected would be safe and suitable for an injection well. We could have prepared this study in-house, using geologists who had worked for us in the past. However, we thought it best, for credibility purposes, to hire an outside geologist, preferably someone from the academic field.

We contacted Henry Pollach, Head of the Department of Geological Sciences at the University of Michigan. He indicated an interest in the project, but said he didn't have enough time available. He referred us to one of his associates, Dr. Joyce Budai, who was the Director of the Subsurface Laboratory. We met with Dr. Budai and then employed her and several of her associates to prepare the study. At the time of employment, she told us, in no uncertain terms, that she could not predict the outcome of the study – it could have indicated that our proposed well site was not suitable for the well, in which case the idea of locating the well in Romulus would have died.

Fortunately, the study indicated that the site was a good one.

THIRD: We applied to the EPA, DNR, and the FAA (Federal Aviation Administration) for the necessary permits. If our applications had been denied, the project would have died. Fortunately, we did receive the permits. The EPA permit stated: "Environmental Disposal Systems, Inc., of Birmingham, Michigan, hereinafter, the permittee, is hereby authorized to construct and operate a newly drilled Class I Hazardous Waste injection well (Well #1) located in Michigan, Wayne County, T3S, R9E, Section 20, SE Quarter Section, subject to the conditions of this permit." Copies of this permit (both draft and final versions) were sent to Mayor McAnally soon after they were received.

FOURTH: The next step was to drill the well in order to determine whether or not Dr. Budai's geological study was correct. (We have drilled perhaps 200 wells and can't tell you how many times the geological studies were wrong, resulting in many "dry holes.") Although the EPA permit states that we are ". . . authorized to construct and operate . . ." the well, it goes without saying that the well must be suitable for the purpose intended. The only way to absolutely confirm whether or not it would be suitable would be to actually drill the well and run all of the EPA- and DNR-required tests.

We began drilling the well on July 20, 1993. The well was drilled to a total depth of 4490' on August 10, 1993. During drilling, core samples were taken from the different formations or "geologic seals" which overlie the injection zone as well as the injection zone itself. During the period from August 10 through August 15, 1993, we ran all kinds of tests on the well. These tests (along with the core samples which were obtained earlier) were witnessed by geologists from the EPA and DNR. At the end of the testing, our engineers recommended to us that we had a very good well that exceeded the projections in Dr. Budai's study, and that we should therefore "run pipe." The EPA and DNR geologists concurred with our engineer's recommendations. If the tests we had run had not been positive, our engineers would have recommended "plugging" the well, the well would have been plugged, and that would have been the end of the project. Because DNR regulations will not allow a drilling rig to move off of a well which it has drilled until either the well is "plugged" or else casing is run in the well and cemented in place, we made the obvious decision to run and cement casing. Therefore, special alloy casing was run in the well and cemented in place, from top to bottom, on August 16, 1993, according to EPA and DNR regulations.

A full explanation of the drilling and testing process was presented to Mayor McAnally and Councilperson Mary Ann Banks inside our construction trailer while the well was being drilled. My associates and I told the Mayor and Mrs. Banks that if, after we had completed drilling and testing operations, the well was determined to be unsuitable for the purpose intended, it would be "plugged." Conversely, if the well proved to be suitable, we would run and cement casing and prepare to operate it as a hazardous waste injection well, provided we could satisfy the additional requirements of the EPA and DNR. Despite Mayor McAnally's statements that she "never got out of the car" while visiting our well site, the fact of the matter is that, on at least one occasion, she did get out of her car, walked up the stairs of the construction trailer, walked inside, sat down, and listened to our presentation. The conversation was friendly and at no time did the Mayor or Mrs. Banks tell us we had a "zoning problem" or object to the well in any way whatsoever.

FIFTH: Actual injection tests of the injection formation were run on August 27, 1993. If these tests had not proven successful, the well would have been "plugged" and the project abandoned. The tests were successful. They confirmed that we have a "low pressure injection well" that will accept waste liquids at the rate of 200–300 gallons per minute at 500–700 pounds of injection pressure.

Even though the EPA had issued us a permit to "construct and operate" the well, we still had to prove it was suitable by drilling it and testing it. However, once the well was proven to be a good well, only an incompetent fool would "plug" it and walk away. (A good analogy is drilling a well for oil or gas. Before it's drilled, it can be considered to be a "test well." But once it has been drilled, you know whether or not it is successful. If it is a "dry hole," you "plug" it. If you find oil or gas, you don't "plug" it – you run and cement casing and produce it.)

In summary, we gambled a lot of money by drilling and testing the well in order to determine whether or not Dr. Budai's study was correct and whether or not it would satisfy the requirements of the EPA and DNR. We were fortunate. Our gamble paid off. We believe this well to be one of the safest and best injection wells ever drilled in Michigan. We believe it is superior to the Class I well that Ford Motor Company had at the Rouge Steel plant and the three Class I wells at Detroit Coke Corp. on Jefferson Avenue in Detroit.

It is our hope that the above adequately addresses the issue as to why our well could have initially been considered to be a "test well." As to why Beverly McAnally maintains that the well was and always would be only a "test well," I have no explanation other than that it appears very convenient in light of the current litigation. As you can see from the above, her position is ridiculous, even for that of a layperson.

Sincerely,

Douglas F. Wicklund

ROMULUS NEWS
DIGEST

Schager leaves EDS position

Vincent Schager, former operations manager at Environmental Disposal Systems, has resigned his position.

Schager reported he left EDS in mid-February and is now working at a Detroit-based environmental firm.

Schager (who began with EDS in September 1993) had appeared often at Romulus Council meetings early in the legal battle, and was a prime witness at the EDS zoning hearings.

EDS President Douglas Wicklund meanwhile announced the hiring of two new executives.

The pair include Austin Marshall, a vice president for overall planning and operations, and Walter W. Poimboeuf, a vice president for deepwell operations and regulation.

Wicklund states Marshall has an extensive amount of experience in the handling and transport of non-hazardous and hazardous wastes, as well as extensive experience in the design, permitting and operations of hazardous and non-hazardous treatment facilities.

Poimboeuf has extensive experience in the siting, permitting, construction and operations of injection disposal wells.

Wicklund says the duo will assume responsibility for design, construction, operations and management of the project, and will also include the hiring of further professional staff members.

Wicklund said he will not be involved in the management of the project.

Zoning hearing off until March 22

A city Zoning Board of Appeals session concerning the Environmental Disposal Systems deep well project originally slated for tonight has been postponed until 7:30 p.m. March 22 in the City Council Chambers.

Street sweeping begins in April

A street sweeping program will begin the first week of every other month, beginning in April, Department of Public Works Director James Panos announced Monday.

The sweeping program will continue in June, August, October and November (weather permitting) on the day after rubbish removal, Panos reported.

Permanent signs relative to the service will be posted at all entrance streets in local subdivisions. The service will also be provided downtown.

Councilman Randolph Gear advised local residents to keep their vehicle doors closed during those cleaning periods.

Salesperson, driver wins key honors

Andrew Kroli and Johnnie Tank have been named salesperson and driver of the year by Morse Moving and Storage Company.

Kroll was chosen from five members of the sales force. He is a graduate of Northern Michigan University and has been with Morse Moving since July 1993.

Tank received a plaque and a trip for two to Florida for his efforts.

Park location spots available

Reservations for the seven city parks are now available on a first come, first served basis, Parks and Recreation Director Brian Hitsky said Monday.

Park space may be reserved for Elmer Johnson, Kennedy, Senior, Historic, Park One, Cypress, Fernandez and Merriman parks.

Pavilion rental at Elmer Johnson Park is $50 for a commercial activity and $35 for a non-commercial activity.

There also are fees for the rental of softball fields and various play equipment.

Bergman, LeCesne win chili contests

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Chili champion Dr. Terrel LeCesne continued his reign as local chili champion for the third year in the row, but his title switched from "hot" to "mild" adult chili champion last Friday.

The first two years the chili contest was conducted, LeCesne, the Romulus Community Schools assistant superintendent, walked off with the "hot" chili title. This year that award went to Jon Bergman, an alumni association member with a "secret sauce" entry.

Contest judges were all members of the Romulus Rotary Club, who carefully tasted and compared all the entries. The entries were marked with numbers rather than the contestants' names, to ensure non-partiality.

Students, alumni and community residents also engaged in a euchre competition in a room next to the chili contest. They later were treated to their choice of chili dishes.

Brian Oakley was declared the 1995 Euchre Tournament winner. The game supplies were furnished by Stears Hardware, who also provided the door prizes.

The door prizes were won by Bill Crova and Tom Markowski.

Superintendent search continues

By KIMBERLY WOLOSKIE

Approximately 38 applications were received by the Wayne Westland School Board by the Feb. 27 deadline.

The application process began in November and will continue through the offering of a contract in May to a potential candidate. The selection criteria recommended by the board includes an experienced individual, a strong executive, competent and creative in the development, accountability and management of financial, human and physical resources.

Other qualifications sought out by the board include strong interpersonal skills with exceptional abilities in listening, verbal and written communication.

The position will require residency within the school district. According to school board Trustee Patricia Brown, applications were received from Ohio, Virginia, Illinois, Arizona, and the majority from Michigan.

"We received an average number of applications that a superintendent search would bring in," said Brown.

Candidates were contacted about the open position through brochures mailed to universities, school boards, the superintendents association, and through individual contacts.

The interview process will begin March 22, 23, and 24. Each interview is 90 minutes in length and will be conducted during a closed interview session.

Board members will narrow the selection from 38 applicants to approximately 10 candidates said Richard LeBlanc

Testing begins at dump

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Two different types of fencing will be installed around the old dump site near Wick School, according to the city Emergency Management Coordinator Margaret LeDuc.

The council approved the letting for bids on the fence project also.

The city will need to purchase 4,700 feet of snow fencing and 1,550 feet of chain link fence, LeDuc told the council Monday night. It was stressed that the city should seek the return of the snow fencing at the end of the old dump site clean-up project, LeDuc said.

Karen Thomas, project manager of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, Emergency Response at the Wick School Dump Site, reported that Phase I of the clean-up program was conducted on Feb.17-20.

Thomas said that the DNR was pleased that the clean-up did not find too many old barrels and chemicals underground in this first test period.

The 15 or 20 samples found and collected, Thomas said, were send to laboratories and results should be returned in about four weeks.

LeDuc said the DNR "had anticipated numerous drums could have been buried in this location, since the ground was uneven and hilly."

Phase II will then include removing and properly disposing of the drums and nearby soils off of the site.

During the removal, contractors will be taking samples of wastes (such as discolored soils or sludges in drums) to help identify their characteristics and determine if they are hazardous, LeDuc said.

The schedule for Phase II will not be announced until the results of Phase I are back.

While there is no way to say exactly how long the emergency clean-up will take, LeDuc said, the DNR expects the clean-up to require at least several months.

Thomas said while no date has been set for the clean-up, it probably would be done over the summer school holiday.

Thomas Pickert of the Wayne County Environmental Health Division said two wells on Ecorse Road, one house and one auto repair business have been sampled.

The samples have been sent to the lab and results should be received in a few weeks, Pickert said.

He also said if the results of the tested wells come back hazardous, he would instruct the homeowner about the possible dangers of the well.

Mayor encouraged by survey

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Mayor Beverly McAnally reported the results of her recent survey on whether the city should pursue its battle against the deep well project were very encouraging.

McAnally said she received more than 400 responses from private citizens, most who do not usually attend the Monday night council sessions. The overwhelming majority favored continuing the legal battle and were opposed to having a deep well located within the city of Romulus, she said.

About a dozen or so supported the operation of a deep well project, the mayor said.

McAnally shared the notes written on the ballots, both those for or against the well.

A sampling of the comments of those against the well included:

•"I would like to confront Jimmie Raspberry and I believe I'm not the only one who was upset by his letter."

> "If EDS President Mr. Wicklund wants to move his family and become a Romulus resident, I might change my mind against the well.
> - letter writer

•"Keep the faith, take care of yourself and call us if you need us."

•"You have our 100 percent support. Keep up the good work."

•"We have lived in Romulus for over 50 years and don't want trucks loaded with waste on our streets. Let Canada and other places take care of their own."

•"Don't let them wear you down, keep the faith. Sooner or later they will do something illegal, if they haven't already and then the Feds will get them."

•"The city is already well known for Metro Airport and the home of the Landing Strip topless bar. Let's not be known as the dumping ground for toxic waste too."

•"If EDS President Mr. Wicklund wants to move his family and become a Romulus resident, I might change my mind against the well."

Meanwhile those in favor of the well said:

•"The city did too little too late."

McAnally also praised EDS for recently publishing her phone number and those of the council members.

Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks and Councilmen William Wadsworth, Randolph Gear and Michael Prybyla also said they received 15 or more phone calls on the well issue and all but one or two were supportive of the city's actions.

Groundbreaking due March 29

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

More than 100 area residents, Salvation Army staff and Advisory Board members plus local and statewide political leaders will be on hand March 29 as the Romulus Salvation Army breaks ground for its new $7 million complex at Van Born and Middlebelt Roads.

Capt. Roger Senn, commander of the Men's Rehabilitation Center currently on Goddard Road, said Salvation Army Territorial Commissioner Harold D. Hinson and Lt. Col. Marcus Stilwell, regional commander of the Army rehabilitation center services, will attend the festivities.

A Salvation Army band also will perform.

The ceremonial groundbreaking will take place at noon, followed by a special luncheon at the current Goddard Road facilities.

Mayor Beverly McAnally, city officials, Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara and other governmental leaders are being invited to the ground-breaking, Senn said.

The Army is being forced to move from its current facilities by the planned expansion of Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Wayne County has already purchased the Goddard Road site for a fourth parallel runway facility.

A new men's rehabilitation center and administrative office building, thrift store and sorting factory will be included in the new Army complex that hopefully will be open by mid-1996, according to a spokesman.

Promise Keepers rally sold out

Opinion

Mike's musings

Mike Wilcox

The Mega Conference, downriver's high school version of the Big 10, has seemingly stepped over the edge with their refusal to admit Suburban Athletic Conference teams to their roster.

In case you missed our front page last week, the Mega Conference is being sued by a student at Robichaud High School for the huge sum of $25 million. The suit accuses the Mega Conference of racial discrimination and depriving the student of opportunities guaranteed to him by the equal protection clause of the state and federal constitutions.

Certainly, I do not condone an opportunistic lawsuit of this type, however, the suit has brought a situation to light that should not exist, and that appears to be the separation of athletic conferences in this county by race. The Mega Conference's participants are nearly 100 percent Caucasian. The Suburban Athletic Conference's participants are mostly African-American.

The Suburban Athletic Conference is breaking up. Oak Park is joining another conference and Romulus has been admitted to the Mega, albeit after threatening a lawsuit. Now Inkster, Ecorse and Robichaud would like to climb aboard the Mega so that it can play neighboring schools versus traveling 50 miles to find an opponent. However, the Mega kingpins are against adding new members, citing a plethora of reasons, but denying the obvious - the racial make-up of the school requesting entrance.

With the exception of the Detroit Public Schools League and a couple of notable exceptions (Canton, Glenn, Salem, etc.), all Wayne County Schools are either members of the Mega or Suburban Athletic Conference. It would be a darn shame if the old Suburban schools were forced to look toward another county in which to play. The Mega has a great opportunity to unite Western Wayne and downriver schools into one massive conference, thus ending the segregated situation that now exists.

Our Sports Editor Tom Mooradian, goes one step further. It is his vision to one day see the Detroit Public Schools League merging with the Mega, creating one conference for the entire county, much like Oakland County did a couple of years ago.

I know many of us would find this vision appalling. However, if we truly want a society where one's racial make-up is unimportant, then we must begin teaching this is our schools. Right now, we're taught the largely African-American Detroit schools are to only play their own kind, and vice-versa with the largely Caucasian suburban schools.

The Mega Conference can help end this segregation. The Mega Conference has the opportunity to play ball with neighboring schools. Dearborn Heights Robichaud could be aligned with Dearborn Crestwood, Dearborn Edsel Ford, Dearborn Fordson and Dearborn High, schools within 10 miles but which rarely challenge Robichaud on the playing field.

Let's not allow race to taint our thinking. Let's do what's best for our children. In this case, the logical decision is to expand the Mega to include those Western Wayne schools that want to join.

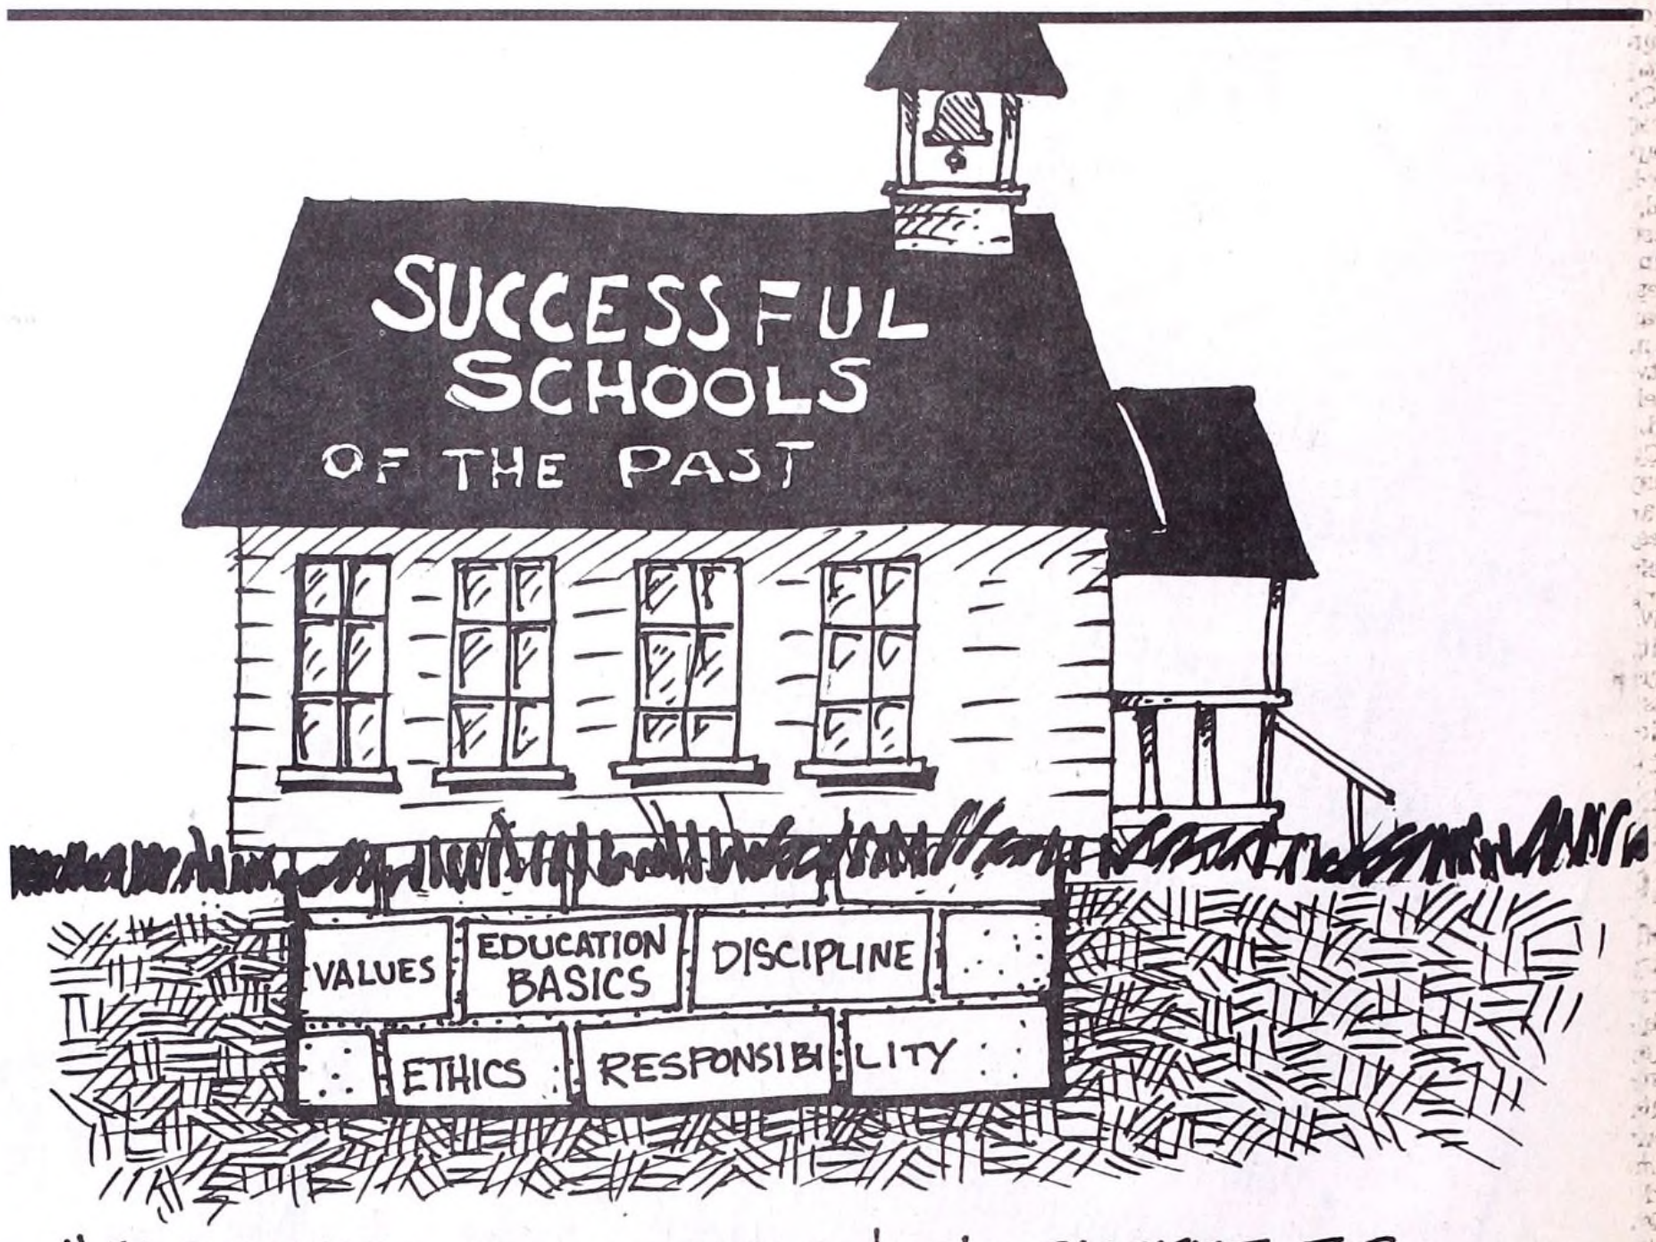
Old methods may have merit

While we support technology and innovation in our area schools, we can't help but wonder if some of the traditional methods may have merit.

We were somewhat taken back to learn that a Texas elementary school, located in a poor area, has boosted its test scores with "old fashioned" methods - memorization and repetition coupled with strict classroom discipline.

There is no question that we must prepare for the 21st Century by supplying our students with up-to-date technology, but, perhaps, we need to re-evaluate some of the "old" methods.

We hope that, when we threw away all of the outdated methods of teaching we didn't also "throw out the baby with the bath water."



Historic home purchase defended

LETTERS

To the editor:

This letter is in response to Mr. Daley's letter of concern recently published in your paper. This information was taken from the annual Historic District Commission (HDC) report to the Canton Township board, and our history of this project.

During the year of 1984/85 the Canton Township board pursued the purchase of a 20-acre site in the Cherry Hill Village. This coincided with obtaining the Cherry Hill School from the Plymouth-Canton School District for restoration under the direction of (former) Supervisor James Poole.

At the time, the HDC and the Township envisioned a Greenfield Village- type use for the 20 acres with the Cherry Hill School serving as an anchor for activities (i.e. classroom lectures, events, use by the public).

To accomplish that, the HDC initiated a "savings account" with the township to provide funds to save endangered buildings and bring them to the 20-acre site.

Shortly, the opportunity was offered to Canton by Ken Dividock, a local realtor, to move the Bartlett-Travis house (B-T house). So in 1989, Canton and the HDC obtained an Outstate Equity Grant of $50,000, matched with township funds - to move and stabilize the B-T house to the 20 acres. Which we did, and, yes, there was much fan-fare!

It (1989) was a busy year for the HDC. We were in the process of finishing the Cherry Hill School, (also part of an Outstate Equity grant and GM/UAW Job Share Bank program) which opened in October 1989; Canton purchased the Sheldon School (using funds from reprogrammed CDBG monies allocated to the Michigan Avenue Corridor); researching and documenting the plan to preserve Cherry Hill Village and designate it a local historic district.

It was during that time, that the HDC determined that moving additional structures to create a Greenfield Village at the 20-acre site was far too expensive and didn't generate the activity level we desired for this project. The HDC felt it was inappropriate to duplicate efforts made by Greenfield Village, the Northville Mill Race and Livonia's Greenmeade.

Cherry Hill was a living community and didn't need to be duplicated in an artificial setting. A similar decision drove the use of Cherry Hill School in consideration of the efforts made for the Geer School. So we chose a different path to preserve for Canton a remnant of its history.

We began this by stabilizing both the B-T House and the Sheldon School with new roofs, new chimneys, and boarding up the windows. The HDC determined that since Sheldon School had funds available for its restoration, we would begin with it. Canton and the HDC had plans drawn for both projects by preservation architects, obtained through the approved bidding process. Sheldon was completed in 1993, and an open house was held. Many of the students from Sheldon were invited and all were pleased with its revitalization.

The Washtenaw Child and Family Services began renting the building that same year. Rental monies received go to maintain the building and grounds. The directors of the HUD program (CDBG funds) in our area are delighted with this project. Using these monies saved the Township from loosing a portion of its CDBG funds endangered of being recaptured if not used (much as we have seen in the news lately), and served to reduce blight and a negative use (it was a motorcycle club clubhouse) along Michigan Avenue. The project was consistent with the Michigan Avenue Corridor Study recommendations.

The HDC then turned to the B-T House. We requested from the Board and received permission to use our "savings account" coupled with funds allocated to our budget to begin the exterior restoration. It was determined that it was economically prudent to hire a special restoration contractor/carpenter as opposed to the expense of a contractual and architectural team.

The project would be supervised in house vs. hiring a contractor. Rex Harvey as hired to do the work. Rex did all of the work himself, with some support from the volunteer coordinator (Kathleen Salla) at the township.

Thus far completed: Stabilized and repaired structure and foundation; Replaced or repaired the siding on tow sides; Installed the footing and base decking for the covered wrap around porch; Began restoration of original windows; Hung two outside doors; Completed reattachment of the two sections of the house (a moving condition); Completed the stone work around the foundation, and more.

Sound-Off 729-4006

Callers express views on injection well, senior band, Westland services

Controversy still continues about the waste injection well in Romulus and its operators. According to the callers to Sound-Off 729-4006, the situation is far from settled.

Callers this week also complained about the operational changes affecting the September Days Senior Kitchen Band, and expressed concern about Westland services.

Individuals who wish to express their views or comments on any subject of general interest may call Sound-Off 729-4006 between 5 p.m. and 8 a.m. weekdays or during the weekend.

Callers need not identify themselves, but should speak clearly and briefly and avoid personal attacks or profane language.

Westland reminds me of Detroit. The mayor is only concerned with what he sees outside of his office window, which is Central City Parkway. All Coleman Young was concerned with was the Renissance Center and Cobo Arena.

If you live in any other area except where the mayor lives, you put up with gang graffiti, dope houses, dump trucks parked in residential areas on a regular basis, loaded steel trucks parked overnight on a regular basis, cars abandoned in the streets for months, streets that are swept two to three times a year, leaf pickup two to three weeks after the start up date.

I am the leader of the September Day Senior Band and I just wanted you to know that they have moved us out of the center because I wouldn't sign a paper to give my instruments out, and it is falling under the new regime. Van Buren Township took over the center and they have all new rules and regulations. They requested us to sign for the instruments that we paid for and belong to the band. The band paid for them out of their donations. They wanted me to sign for it and I would not sign, so they told me when I went out the door that there was no longer going to be a September Day Senior Band. I went to see an attorney to see what my rights were before I said anything. They said that the stuff belonged to them, but it don't. It belongs to all the band members.

I don't think it's right that we have to sign our things in and out. I just wanted to let you know, so you could get it straight before someone else said something.

I have a opinion that differs with Mike Wilcox. I am very hesitant to believe his description of Doug Wicklund as a caring businessman with a genuine interest in Romulus. He is purely an opportunist who is doing nothing more than seeking profit off the backsides of these citizens living in Romulus. I very much support the RECAP members. They are a tremendous example of what our democracy is supposed to be about. They deserve the support of all the surrounding communities.

I do not live in Romulus, but I will do anything in my power to help these people stop this toxic well.

After being a scientific engineer at the University of Michigan and being a resident of Romulus, I don't understand the thoughts of the people in the city and I don't think that they really understand what deep wells really are.

There are over 20 class A-1 wells in the state of Michigan right now. To divide this city just over political gain or trying to bad mouth someone - what happened to the unity in this city?

I would like to understand what causes people to be so greedy and attack others who are doing a fine job on the city council. They have gone out and checked people's complaints for years, now all of a sudden they want to make them look bad. I just don't agree with that.

Where are we going to put all this toxic waste? All the EPA people and the environmentalists don't understand that this stuff on top of the ground is killing our kids. Look at the Wick Road School and what they are spending to clean it up.

Why won't people understand and look into the situation and find out what deep wells are all about. Wastes need to be put into the ground 2,000 feet under the water line. There are over 50,000 wells in this country, 75 percent of all toxic wastes are put into deep injection wells.

If anyone knows what they are talking about at these council meetings instead of fighting, why can't we come to an agreement. I don't want to waste my money fighting this well when I know they are perfectly safe. If anyone has any questions, they should be informed by someone who knows what they are talking about.

Some lady at the meeting said that this would be the first Class 1 well operating in Michigan. She is mistaken. There are 20.

Some have been operating for 30 years with no leakage into the waterline. If we keep dumping this stuff on the ground we are going to kill our kids.

•

I wonder if the person, Peter E. O'Rourke, the attorney from Detroit that wrote a letter to the editor supporting the deep well, is the same Peter E. O'Rourke that was the subject of charges in 1993 and in 1988.

I am just curious if they are the same person.

"straw bosses" the HDC also mobilized volunteers to clean up and gut the house. (40 of them, including Close up students). Once the plaster was removed the secrets of "this old house" were evident, telling us that it was built in sections, and the first floor was probably one of the original homes built in Canton. The additions were also unique to distinctive periods of time and construction methods.

The HDC also began investigating the possible partnership between the Wayne/Westland Vocational Education program for adults, to do the interior work. They will do the work as a class project if we supply the materials. We have a tentative agreement with them for this upcoming fall, and are working to provide the materials. The HDC is now in the process of asking builders, developers, vendors, and businesses in Canton to donate funds or materials to help with the interior of the building, with some early success.

Paul Denski of CWR has been the leader of this effort and has already been a great friend to the HDC with all his help and support.

We have also embarked in a new relationship with the Canton Historical Society.

Wicklund gives response

To the editor:

Having read Bill Wadsworth's letter in your March 2, 1995 paper I felt I had to correct Bill's misstatements.

Bill, your letter was incredible, absolutely incredible.

First, you are right, every since you voted to file the lawsuit against us, you have publicly opposed our project. But that's not the point.

During all of the meetings that you attended concerning this issue, when did you ever state that you would sue us if we put the Well in? When did you ever tell us that the zoning was wrong? When did you tell the citizens of Romulus that you would ignore the 3-1 vote against further spending of tax dollars on lawyers and continue paying the same lawyers that contribute to your political campaigns? It's time to be honest, Bill!

You have given Mayor McAnally $400,000 of the taxpayers' dollars to spend on lawyers, so far. Just think what this money could be used for. The city could put in new sewers, street lights and pave dirt roads or Fire Chief Greenslait could use it to buy a hook and ladder truck to protect the citizens living in the Seniors Tower, etc.

Second, as to the rest of your letter, it is nothing but a lot of clap trap. Wake up Bill! This is 1995. We no longer ride around in carriages pulled by horses. Technology is advanced. Countries no longer test atomic bombs on the surface, they test them deep underground where they can't harm citizens or the environment. Likewise, it's safer to put industrial liquid wastes deep under ground than to dispose of it on the surface, close to our drinking water supply.

One proven fact remains: Deep Well Injection is safe. The track record is outstanding according to EPA Region 5 in Chicago, Region 6 in Dallas and Region 8 in Denver. It is also safe according to the states of Michigan, Ohio, Florida, Louisiana, Texas, Colorado and California. In the province of Alberta, Canada, deep well injection and disposal has been practiced since the 1920s and continues today with an exemplary record of environmental safety.

To date there have been no recorded incidents where operations at disposal wells have resulted in any significant environmental impacts. This is notable considering there are currently in excess of 5,000 injection and disposal wells including 29 Class I hazardous wells.

Finally, Bill, its time to put up or shut up. Show me evidence that our Class I well in Romulus is unsafe or else stop making such irresponsible statements. Your continued protestations are not only an embarrassment to yourself but also to the majority of Romulus citizens, who you are supposedly sworn to represent.

Senator praises anti-gang effort

To the editor:

Principal Celestine Sanders and the faculty, students and administrators of Adams Junior High School in Westland deserve high praise and recognition for the positive change they all helped bring about in their school. A program that recently aired on Channels 4 and 56, "City For Youth: The Gang's Not Here", highlighted the accomplishments that have taken place at Adams.

The focus of these accomplishments is aimed at keeping students out of gangs and in school. Through such innovative programs as peer mediation and others, students help each other under the direction of Adams faculty and administrators. The cooperation that has taken place here shows that real, positive change can come about in our community when people are willing to work together.

The example of Adams Junior High School should serve as a model to other schools that are plagued by gang problems. Once again Adams, congratulation on a job well done.

Councilman shares credit

To the editor:

I read with great interest the news article in the Feb. 22, Westland Eagle, concerning the early warning system.

It was very enlightening to find that his system came about only through the efforts of the mayor and the Westland Fire Department.

Apparently, I was under the false impression that the program was initiated by budgeted action of the City Council.

On behalf of all the people of the city of Westland, I wish to thank you and the Westland Fire Department for your forethought and efforts to provide all the safety measures and services to the people.

Cruise ships land best cooks on the seas

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

It's a toss up whether it is the exotic ports of the fascinating foods that lure tourists to the cruise ships.

Whatever is their motivation, increasing numbers of people are embarking on Caribbean cruises - particularly during the month of February, when the Northern winter is at its coldest and grayest.

In addition to warming the body with the 80-plus degree temperatures and the balmy breezes, cruise ship cuisine also warms the soul with an array of exotic foods created by a team of multi-national cooks and chefs.

Food is an important part of the cruise, beginning with breakfast in the dining room between 7:30 and 9:30 a.m., or with the "early bird" coffee on the sun deck at 6:30 a.m. or the full service buffet breakfast on deck which is served until 10:15 a.m.

Those who prefer to do so may order breakfast, snacks, lunch or dinner from room service.

Lunch and dinners are served in the dining rooms, supplemented by a snack luncheon on the sun deck and afternoon "tea," consisting of beverages, small sandwiches and dainty desserts.

Last, but not least, is the elegant midnight buffet, which follows a nightly theme - Italian, Oriental, Caribbean or other special ethnic fare.

If one fears that the calorie count will add extra baggage to his or her hips or thighs at the end of the cruise, there are on-board exercise programs to burn off the extra portions of Chocolate Mousse. Cherries Jubilee and Pina Colada Cake.

Just so that cruise passengers may try their hand at duplicating some of the delicious cruise cuisine served aboard their ships, the Royal Caribbean Cruise Line supplies a packet of Menu Memories with the recipes of several of their most popular entrees and desserts.

Pina Colada Cake

4 oz. warm water
4 oz. coconut cream
5 oz. pineapple juice
2 to 3 ounces rum
4 oz. pastry cream
12 oz. whipped cream
4 oz. coco cream
1 8-inch round cake
Sliced pineapple and red cherries (for garnish)

Make a syrup with the water, coconut cream, pineapple juice and rum. Then slice the cake in half. Mix the whipped cream (saving some to top the cake) with the pastry cream and add the coco cream and mix well. Fill the cake with the cream mixture and place the other half of the cake on the top. Sprinkle some of the syrup over both slices of cakes. Frost cake with whipped cream, and then slice the cake into triangle shaped pieces and garnish each piece with a rosette of whipped cream, a piece of pineapple and a piece of red cherry. Serves 8 to 10.

White Chocolate Mousse

4 bars, or 12 oz. Toblerone white chocolate
2/3 cup milk
2 cups whipping cream
4 egg whites (whites only)
Dash of lemon juice

Heat milk and blend in small broken pieces of the white chocolate. Stir with a wooden spoon until completely melted and set aside to cool. Whip the cream until stiff and set aside. Beat egg white and lemon juice together until peaks form. Fold the whipped cream into the chocolate, mixing gently to prevent a heavy texture. Spoon into a bowl and chill. Garnish with fresh sweet dark chocolate shavings. Serves 8.

Stage is set for 'greatest drama' in district

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

There were no major surprises in the first round of the high school district basketball playoffs.

No surprises, that is, unless one considered the inability of what appeared to be a high-powered Romulus cage machine to maintain its momentum. The Eagles, flying on the crest of a seven-game winning streak, crashed against against host, Belleville, Monday night.

In a showdown that was supposed to, but wasn't, Belleville buried Romulus 64-38 and set the stage for one of great hoops rivalries in the area.

Belleville was scheduled to entertain Wayne Memorial Wednesday night in the semifinal round of the Class A district. The two teams split in Mega Conference Red Division competition this season, and each owns a share of the conference title.

> "There are five excellent teams in this district. And when the district is all over, we would like to be the winner. - Chuck Henry

And, the Tigers haven't forgotten it was none other than Wayne that killed them in the playoffs a year ago. The Tigers went to Romulus with a 21-0 record and returned with their first loss and out of the playoffs.

Who can forget.

Although the Belleville - Wayne Memorial rivalry has not reached the heights of a Duke and North Carolina game - not yet, anyway - and Belleville coach Michael Garland and Wayne's Chuck Henry remain close friends as apparently do Mike Krzyzewski and Dean Smith, the two local coaches always seem to push their teams to greater heights when their paths cross on the hardwood.

One could expect that much in the districts.

"There are five excellent teams in this district," said Henry as he counted off their names - Belleville, Westland John Glenn, Garden City, Romulus and Wayne. "And when the district is all over, we would like to be the winner."

And that was not one of Henry's secret wishes. He also knows beating Belleville "over there" isn't an easy task.

And even beating Belleville is no sure ticket to the regionals. The specter of Glenn looms over all.

Wednesday night's winner, moreover, has the task of playing either Garden City or John

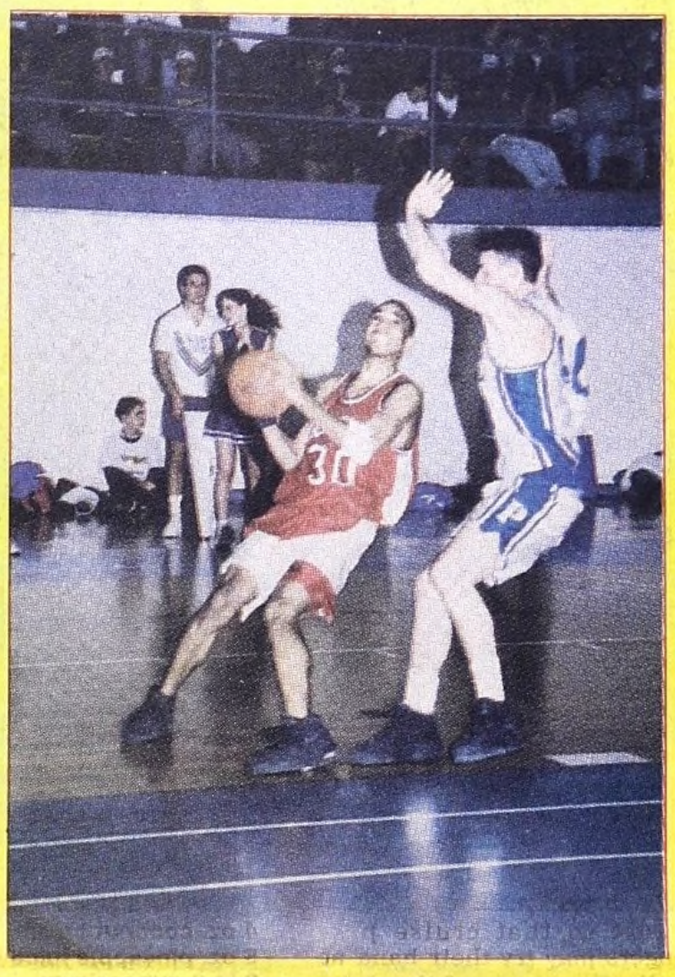
Docks burns Rockets

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Like the Greek proverb says: He swam the ocean only to drown in the pond.

But, in the case of John Glenn, that pond was filled with Plymouth- Canton piranhas that waited for the opportune moment, then struck viciously and cut the previously undefeated Western Lakes Conference champs' plans of a double crown to pieces.

Glenn blew a 15-point lead and fell to Canton 65-58 in the championship round of the conference tournament before some 3,000 fans who jammed Plymouth-Salem High School Friday night.



With a wall of Plymouth-Salem Rock defenders staring him in the face, Glenn's Brent Washington (4) nails a jumper during the semifinal round of the Western Lakes Conference championship. In photo at far right, DeKorey Albright (30) sees the wall and passes. Glenn extended its win streak to 11, before Plymouth-Canton cut it Friday night and won the tournament title.MCN photo by Kimberly Woloskie

The Canton resurgence came in the form of an incredulous individual performance by Ted Docks who hammered away at what appeared to be an insurmountable 15-point Glenn lead.

Docks drilled three treys in the closing minutes to pull the Chiefs up from disaster and to a 65-58 victory, giving Canton is first-ever conference tournament title.

The Glenn setback snapped a 11-game winning streak, its longest in recent years.

Glenn led most of the way against Canton, moving to a 15-11 advantage after the first quarter and a 37-25 lead at intermission. However, the Rockets' 6-11 center Guy Rucker had problems finding his role in this game.

And Canton capitalized on the Rockets ineptness to get the ball inside to their top scorer. They also managed to eliminate turnovers in the second half - they counted 11 of them in the first two periods.

Glenn had a 13-point cushion to begin the final eight minutes of the conference season and the Rockets wasted it as the Chiefs put together a run that included three consecutive three-pointers from their sharpshooting captain.

As Rucker faded as a factor, Albert Jones picked up the slack for the Westlanders and he put through a jumper that gave the Rockets a three- point lead. Docks' third trey tied it and a Glenn scoring drought, caused by six consecutive miscues, gave Canton an opportunity to roar past the Rockets and seal the big victory.

Jones finished with 20 and Rucker counted 11 for the losers, who finished the regular season with a 16-3 record and were slated to play a tough Garden City team in the first round (Tuesday) of the Class A district playoffs at Belleville.

In the meantime, Docks provided the Chiefs with a season-high 26 points in their tournament triumph. Canton advanced to the semifinal round of the Class A district playoffs by beating Livonia Franklin 60- 45 Monday night. (See Related Stories).

In the meantime, Plymouth-Salem, a 73-69 loser to Glenn in the first- round of the tournament, took its wrath out on Walled Lake Central, 83-72, to sew up the consolation prize.

Salem led all the way thanks to the performances of Dan McKian, Andres Lopez and Justin Marcis who staked the Rocks to a 16-10 first-period lead and kept the heat on the rest of the evening.

Salem was out front 37-23 at the half but Central outscored their hosts 17-16 and 32-30 in the final two periods.

McKian finished with a game-high 24 points and Lopez contributed 16 and Marcis finished with 10. Central got 17 points from Kevin Lynch in a game that saw the Rocks go to the free throw ands made 12 of 17 in that final period, (they were 22 of 34 on the evening).

Central canned 23 of 35 at the charity line, while they were also tough in the final frame, hitting on 14 of 17.

In a key game that decided which team would play for the championship, Glenn outscored Salem 22-11 in the second quarter and went on to post a 73-69 victory over Salem in the semifinals.

Salem led 19-15 after one but that second-period Rocket surge, led by Jones, whose first three-pointer gave the Rockets a 21-19 edge. Glenn then got treys from Savon Hubbard and Rucker and when Brent Washington drove through the Rocks' defense for a dunk, and Terrell Tigner sank a pair of free throws, it help lift the divisional champs to a 37-30 lead at the half.

Salem senior James MacDonald put on a superb show against the Rockets. He finished with 26 points, while Jones collected 17 for Glenn and Rucker had 16. DeKorey Albright chipped in with 13 - a career high.

Rivals to share cage crown

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

While Wayne Memorial and coach Chuck Henry received some unexpected but always welcomed help from Dearborn Fordson last week, Wayne almost turned its backs on the good fortune.

Henry needed - and finally got - a victory over Garden City to claim a share of the Mega Conference Red Division hoops title, but the co- champs found themselves trailing their hosts right down to the final two minutes of the game before they pulled out the much-needed, title- clinching 57-53 victory.

The Wayne victory and subsequent the Belleville lost leaves the two rivals with identical 10-2 conference records and conference co- champs.

"Garden City is an excellent team," said Henry after his team's great escape. "It was a tough game for us, especially in that first half. The ball wouldn't fall and when that happens there's almost nothing you can do but pray."

Garden City, with Pete Males and Brad Budenbrough showing the way, grabbed a 15-11 first period lead, and Garden City refused to give up its advantage until late in the final stanza when Wayne's do-everything player, Lorenzo Guess, took matters into his hands.

Guess exploded for 12 of his game-high 20 points in the final eight minutes to help the Zebras overcome their deficit.

"Our patience paid off," said Henry. "Guess definitely was a big factor in this must game."

Wayne went on to outscore Garden City 23-13 in that pivotal fourth period.

Guess's 20 points stood up as the game's high. Teammate Richard Thompson also was in double figures. He had 11.

Garden City got 18 points from Males and 12 from Budenbrough.

The victory gave Wayne an impressive 16-4 overall record for the regular season.

Mega Conference, Red Division coaches also convened their all- conference meeting over the weekend and selected 10 players for the elite all-conference team.

Wayne and Belleville placed two players each on the team. The coaches drafted Guess and Jameel Wooden from the Wayne lineup and picked Eric Summers and Sam Reid from Belleville.

Third-place finisher, Monroe, inexplicably managed to place three players on the team - Don Marcero, Steve Jett and Spencer Roecker.

Neither Henry nor Belleville coach Mike Garland would comment on why they, as the conference's co-champs, placed two each while Monroe would fill three berth on the all-star team.

Unbelievable finish in SAC hoops race

Vikings, Willow Run share title

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

An incredible individual performance by All-American cage candidate Albert White helped Inkster turn back Ecorse and propelled the regrouped Vikings to a share of the Suburban Athletic Conference basketball title.

Ecorse, losers by one-point in the first-round to Coach Monte Dennard's champs, was no match for White, who buried the Red Raiders under 33-points and 16 rebounds in leading his team to a 74-61 victory and the co-championship.

Inkster, which won the SAC title outright a year ago; will share the 1995 crown with Willow Run.

"Despite all of the controversy this year, I never lost my confidence in this team," commented Dennard. "But I don't think I want to comment further because there is still a lot of season ahead of us."

Inkster lost six of its regulars at mid-season due to a newly- instituted school board rule that required all student-athletes who wish to compete in athletics to have a passing grade in each of their subjects. (Most school districts require a 2.0 grade point average to maintain eligibility).

Dennard promoted some of the junior varsity to varsity status and the newcomers, although erratic at times and inexperienced, have performed above expectations, he says.

Monday night, Inkster was scheduled to make its inaugural appearance in a Class C district playoff. The Vikings drew Erie-Mason, a team that Dennard says he has "no knowledge of" in the first-round of the district playoffs at Dundee.

White had a great week. In a scrimmage earlier in the week, he stunned Dearborn Divine Child and sent both teams home early when his reverse windmill dunk broke the rim and left the backboard naked.

Although White was not hurt, the scrimmage had to be cancelled because D.C. did not have a replacement rim.

Back to Ecorse.

The Red Raiders stayed in range the first half,thanks to a superlative effort by Will Heskett, who scored 19 points on the evening. Tied at 12 after the first period, the Vikings managed to pull away 33-28 at the half and increased their margin to 51-42 for three periods, with White at center

'The sting' back at Robichaud

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Brushing aside the recent controversy and the brawls that led to a two-game suspension of its varsity, a revitalized Robichaud came back in full force in the stretch and ended the regular basketball season on a high note.

Just in time for the Class B district playoffs.

Coach Ron Tarrant and his Bulldogs are hosting a Class B district championship which will bring together such state title contenders as Dearborn Divine Child and Willow Run.

"We look better and anxious to play now," said Tarrant, after his club clubbed Allen Park Inter-City Baptist, 63-41, and Airport, 67-58, to bring the curtains down on the regular season with a dismal 6-12 record.

Robichaud stretched its victory streak to a modest three games Monday night by whipping city rival, Dearborn Heights Crestwood, 82-47, in the first round of the playoffs (See Related Story).

Robichaud had to come from behind to stop Airport. Trailing by eight (28-20) at the half, the Bulldogs scored nine unanswered points thanks to Matt Alexander and David Zirker to take a 42-37 advantage. Tey never trailed after midway in the third period.

Zirker, who tossed in 18 points, finished the game with individual scoring honors. Alexander chipped in with 17.

Against the Baptists, Tar-

As Romulus cagers learned Monday night, the story of Belleville's demise has been greatly exaggerated. The highflying Eagles, coasting on the wings of a 7-game winning streak, fell 64-38 to the hosts and were ousted from the playoffs. The Belleville victory set the stage for a rematch Wednesday night between coach Mike Garland's team and Wayne Memorial, a team that forced the Tigers to hand over a share of the Mega Conference Red Division championship. The semifinal survivor will advance to play the winner of the Garden City-Westland John Glenn game for the district title. The title game is scheduled for Friday night. A Tiger first

Belleville 'spikers' post winning year

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

All-conference Dawn Corwin's barrages of ace serves were a key ingredient in the team effort that carried the Belleville High School girls volleyball team to its first winning season.

The Tigers were 8-7 overall and 7-5 in Mega League Blue Division play.

"I just serve it to get it in," Corwin, a senior, said. A modest player, Corwin doesn't keep track of her scores.

Yet 81 percent of her serves are in. Out of 184 attempts, 150 were good and 40 were aces. And when she's on, the Tigers are usually a terror behind the southpaw's tricky topspin floaters.

Both were in gear in the regular season finale against Taylor Truman, when Dawn's 11 aces in two games fueled a double victory, 15-8 and 15- 3, and pushed the Tigers into a second place finish.

She said she owes a lot of her serving success to being a lefty. "Most teams aren't used to left-handed serves," she said. "Sometimes the spin can curve the ball where they don't expect it."

But her left-handedness also has its drawbacks.

She said, "I was taught my footwork backwards, but my college coach will fix it."

Timing a spike depends on footwork, she said. "In a tense game it gets confusing, so I just try to rush the net and get the ball."

Playing outside hitter, the 5-foot, 8-inch Corwin is a lethal spiker. Out of 230 attempts, she spiked 178 (77 percent) and had 64 kills (27 percent).

"On fast days, I like to hit," she said. "On slow days I likes to dig."

She had 47 digs for the season.

Defensively, she blocked 14 spikes. Of 118 receptions, she set up her teammates 87 times (73 percent).

Dawn Corwin

Following her sister Kate, now a volleyball player for the University of South Carolina, Corwin won a full two-year volleyball scholarship to Henry Ford Community College. She plans to study child care and psychology on the road to becoming either a child psychologist or day care operator.

"Kate got me into playing volleyball when I was in the fifth grade at Wayne-Westland Lincoln Elementary School," Dawn said. "She was playing in junior high and it seemed cool to play.

"She pushed me hard and I got hooked on the games intensity, competition, and sportsmanship. It takes a lot of heart and desire to play volleyball."

She became a star during the seventh grade at Wayne-Westland Adams Junior High School. And played for Wayne-Westland Memorial's district-winning team in the 10th grade.

She transferred to BHS for the 11th grade and had the unfamiliar experience of playing on a loser.

"We had the talent, but didn't put it together as a team," she said. "I had a good season but volleyball is a team sport."

This year, however, the team started playing with their heads and began winning, she said. "We all contribute something of our own and it comes out to winning."

stage.

Along with his 33 points and 16 rebounds, he also collected five assists and three blocked shots.

Phillip Baldwin was the only other Inkster player in double figures. He contributed 11.

One stat that impressed Dennard was his team's performance at the free throw line where the Vikings canned 14 of 17.

"We got to continue to shoot like that if we want to survive the district playoffs," Dennard said.

Romulus finishes regular hoops season strong

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

They may have had stage fright at Belleville High Monday night where the Eagles were ousted in the first-round of the Class A district playoffs by the hosts (See Related Story on Front Page), but coach Guy DelGiudice's club finished the regular season with two impressive victories over Ann Arbor Huron and Pioneer.

With the two victories, Romulus finished the regular season with an overall 16-4 record. (The Eagles were 16-5 for the year).

"Our losses were to excellent teams," said DelGiudice. "I feel the program is back on track."

Romulus turned back Pioneer 85-72, last Tuesday, and latter in the week disposed of Ann Arbor Huron, 57-54.

With Mike Bell drilling two three-pointers and freshman Brandon DeYampert scoring all of his eight points in the second period, the Eagles broke loose from Pioneer to take a 45-27 lead at halftime. They led by seven (19-12) after the first period.

Pioneer never contested the Eagles' leads the second half.

Romulus placed four players in double figures. Cliff Stewart accounted for 16 points and eight rebounds while Skip Luster, Antoine Stoudmire, and Bell each contributed 12. Stoudmire also carded nine assists and one steal.

It wasn't an easy one for Romulus against Huron. The River Rats refused to quit and battled the Eagles to the final whistle before giving up a 57-54 decision.

Huron, down 17-14 after one period, came back to claim a 32-24 lead at the intermission. However, Romulus came back and outscored their rivals 13-6 in the third period, and trailed 39-37, setting the stage for the cliffhanger.

Exchanging baskets evenly until the final 15 seconds, Romulus put the game in its win column when Skip Luster canned both ends of a one-and- one to push the Eagles' lead to three points.

A turnover and a poor percentage shot erased Huron's opportunity at the end.

Bell scored a game high 18 points and Stoudmire added 12. Chambers contributed 13 points.

Tigers swim club seeks swimmers

The Belleville-based Tiger Swim Club is seeking young swimmers for the 1995 season.

The Tigers, an age-group swim club that competes against neighboring teams, will participate in several meets this year.

Club officials say they are looking for swimmers, boys and girls who want to learn or improve their swimming skills.

Presently, the local club has 33 members.

The Tigers are coached by Brett Woodley. Anyone wishing further information should telephone 946-7971.

The team uses the swimming facilities at Belleville High School.

Glenn - two of the area's outstanding teams.

If the matchup should be a Wayne - Glenn final, watch out. Glenn has one or two things it would like to settle with their natural rivals.

In the meantime, Plymouth-Canton, Robichaud and Inkster also won their first-round games.

White matched the entire Erie-Mason team's scoring output as he tossed in 34 points, collected 14 rebounds, carded seven assists and had two blocked shots in a 93-34 victory over their first-round rivals.

The game for all purposes was over after the first eight minutes, when White, joined by Haneef Sabree scored 16 and eight points, respectively, that stunned Erie-Mason and lifted Inkster to an overwhelming 31-6 advantage.

Dennard turned loose his bench, and the game dragged to the end.

Sabree contributed 14 points, while Inkster also put Chris Lindsay (15) and Phil Baldwin (13) in double figures.

Inkster must now wait for the winner of the Allen Park Cabrini and Dundee game to learn who it will play in the semifinals. The second round is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. today (Thursday).

The championship will be determined at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday.

rant had an opportunity to use all of his bench and everyone scored.

"It was a good game for us because it gave us an opportunity to try things we want to do in the playoffs. We also played everyone."

Again, it was Zirker who led the scorers. He had 13.

MICHIGAN COMMUNITY NEWSPAPERS

Auto giveaway fever heats up at dealerships

Imagine, the birds are chirping, the sky is a crystal blue and the temperature is a balmy 78 degrees. All is right with the world.

Why? Because you are behind the wheel of your brand new car.

How is this possible? It is possible because you are $10,000 richer thanks to the Michigan Community Newspapers.

Your name was drawn from a group of 10 finalists, all randomly selected within a 10-week period.

"NOW WAKE UP!" This is reality. There is only one week left to enter.

Now don't panic. It's easy to enter. Just fill out one of the entry blanks in the newspaper and take it to one of the participating auto dealerships.

Who are they? They are: Varsity Lincoln Mercury at Grand River and Wixom Road in Novi; Tennyson Chevrolet on Plymouth Road in Livonia; Lou LaRiche Chevrolet/Geo on Plymouth Road in Plymouth; Dick Scott Dodge on Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth; Hines Park Lincoln Mercury on Ann Arbor Road; Crestwood Dodge on Ford Road in Garden City; and Milliken Ford on Telegraph Road in Redford.

Why are you still reading this article? You should be filling out your entry blank right now. You are letting the seconds tick by as yet another person enters their name to have Michigan Community Newspapers pay the first $10,000 in payments on a car of their choice (purchase or lease) from any of the participating dealerships.

March 15....March 15...March 15...is the deadline to get your name entered.

Don't sit there on the couch thinking that it won't happen to me. Just ask Elaine Guzman of Inkster. She was the first finalist to be chosen.

Guzman said that she did not care what kind of car it was that she won, as long as it was practical and affordable.

"It could be purple with polka dots for all I care," Guzman said.

Guzman has never entered a contest like this before, but she said that she could use a new car to travel to work and school.

This contest is so exciting that some people could not even talk. Flo Gdowski of Wayne was so excited that she declined to comment.

"I don't want to jinx myself by talking about it," she said.

That deadline again is March 15.

Annette Walsh of Canton made sure that her entry blank was in before the deadline. Her name was the third one to be selected.

Walsh said that she would like a mid-size Ford to replace her family's old Plymouth.

"I think I would like the car to be red," Walsh said.

Paulette Lowry of Ypsilanti said that if she won, she would like a blue Corvette. If her first choice wasn't possible, then she said she would like a Monte Carlo or a Buick Riviera.

Lowry said she has entered other contests in the past.

"I have entered American Family Sweepstakes with Ed McMahon and the Mega Bucks thing on television," she said.

Lowry, like the other contestants mentioned, now has a one in 10 chance of winning $10,000 towards the purchase of a new car. Those are odds that even Ed McMahon would be impressed by.

That's the beauty of it. You don't have to fill out pages upon pages of forms to enter. All you have to do is visit one of the participating dealerships and put your name in the box.

But, you have to do it soon, and if you are still reading this article, you are wasting precious seconds.

Be it blue, red or polka dot, fast, slow or economical, Michigan Community Newspapers is ready to put the keys to a new car in your hand.

Remember...MARCH 15, MARCH 15....MARCH 15.

MICHIGAN COMMUNITY NEWSPAPER'S

$10,000 AUTO GIVEAWAY

AUTO GIVEAWAY PARTICIPANTS ARE:

Michigan Community Newspapers (Belleville Enterprise, Canton Eagle, Inkster Ledger-Star, Romulus Roman, Wayne Eagle and Westland Eagle) in conjunction with area car dealers announces the $10,000 CAR GIVEAWAY contest.

That's Right! Readers of Michigan Community Newspapers will have the opportunity to win $10,000* (must be utilized towards the purchase or lease of a new or used vehicle from participating auto dealers) in this unique contest that begins January 5 and runs through March 15.

Here's How it Works: Simply cut out the entry blanks below and deposit them in ballot boxes at the respective dealerships. Readers can enter once a week at each of the dealerships, for the ten weeks of the contest. Those that enter more than once a week will be disqualified.

Each week a finalist will be chosen from the entries that are deposited. The grand prize winner will be chosen from the 10 finalists in late March.

So don't be shy. Let's start the new year out right. Start snipping the entry blanks each and every week. You have just as good an opportunity as the next reader to bring home a new car.

This contest requires no purchase. All you need to do is fill out the entry blanks provided and visit your friendly car dealers. The weather may be cold and snowy but the deals are hot and the cars are fun.

*MCN will make your first $10,000 in payments on a vehicle of your choice (purchase or lease) from any of the participating dealers.

Going for the gold

Westland figure skaters train for the 1998 Olympic games

One thin blade dances about in a circular motion with the precision of a hawk barely skimming the wet hard surface-ice.

Less than two feet away is a mirror image of the blade following every move of its shadow.

Side by side the two twist and turn creating a floating music box of two dancers having a beginning and regretfully an end.

That describes the beauty of national junior pair ice skating champions Danielle and Steve Hartsell of Westland. The brother and sister team captured the hearts of the judges recently during the U.S. Figure Skating championships.

Danielle, 14, and Steve, 17, have been skating together for more than six years. They made the commitment to compete as a couple when Danielle was only 6 years old and her brother 9 years old. They never looked back.

"I started playing hockey when I was 4 years old and then when Danielle was 3-and-a-half years old she wanted to skate too," said Steve Hartsell. "When I was about 8 years old, my sister's coach talked me into taking skating lessons to improve my hockey skills. By the end of the summer I decided I wanted to start figure skating."

Danielle Hartsell

Three years later, Hartsell's hockey coach asked him to choose between playing with sticks and a puck or skating with his sibling. He stood by his family.

Danielle, a Marshall Junior High student in the Wayne-Westland School District, said she always had a passion for the ice. She skated solo in her younger years.

> I really wanted to play hockey, but my parents wouldn't let me. They told me I could figure skate.
>
> - Danielle Hartsell

"I really wanted to play hockey, but my parents wouldn't let me," Hartsell said. "They told me I could figure skate."

The brother and sister have a very unique bond. As Steve Hartsell describes it, he is the business mind in the duo and his sister is the creative genius.

"I'm more of the business end of the team," Hartsell said. "My sister is more of the showman of the team. She is better at presentation."

> I'm more of the business end of the team. My sister is more of the showman of the team. She is better at presentation.
>
> - Danielle Hartsell

Their minds are in sync, however, not only on the ice. When asked questions during the interview with Michigan Community Newspapers, the brother and sister would look at each other before they answered as if to read the other's mind

The Westland teens practice three to four hours a day, six days a week at the Detroit Skating Club in Bloomfield Hills and in Garden City. Their next big competition will preparing for the 1998 Olympics.

"We'll probably do an international competition this summer and then Junior World in November," said Steve Hartsell. "Junior World will probably be one of the most important competitions this year because with us finishing second last year we'll probably be the favorites going in this year."

Even if the skating pair doesn't make it in the 1998 Olympics, they already know they want to compete in the 2002 Olympics.

When asked if one has better skating ability over the other, both the brother and sister said they have about the same talent and commitment.

"I think we have an easier time skating together because we are brother and sister," said Danielle Hartsell.

In order to perfect their aesthetic skills on ice, the Westland youths take ballet classes at the rink.

"We also do aerobics and work with weights to improve our strength," said Danielle Hartsell.

Besides excelling on the ice, the Hartsells are also scholastic achievers at their schools. Danielle has a 4.0 grade point at Marshall, and Steve maintains a 3.3 grade point at John Glenn. How do they do it all?

"Well, we usually do our homework in the car to and from skating practice," said the 14-year-old. "And we also stay up late."

For their mother and father, however, the commitment to encourage their children to reach for their dreams has gone beyond more than a few words of support.

The parents, Georgia and Lawrence Hartsell, have sacrificed quite a bit including the time the family spends with the children. The mother works at the rink where the children skate which allows her to spend more time with the teens.

The father, however, only sees his children about one hour each day. He works two jobs around the clock to support his children's dream.

"We spend about $40,000 a year to have them on the ice," said Georgia Hartsell. "I'm very strict, however, about them staying in school while they skate because some don't, and I believe they need something to fall back on."

As the brother and sister figure skating team train to achieve their goal of becoming a 1998 Olympic figure skating team member, they are sure of one thing. If they win the gold, it will definitely represent an achievement of the entire Hartsell family.

Danielle Hartsell (left) and her brother Steve share a unique bond. They give one another constant support and encouragement with their training and competition.

Sick of O.J.

Stickers, shirts blast trial of the century a media 'circus'

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

Sick of O.J.?

Bruce Jones is, and he is doing something about it.

The Romulus resident is marketing "Sick of OJ" T-shirts, sweatshirts, and bumper stickers to provide O.J. overdose victims a way to show their disgust for the media event of the century.

"Money is not my motivation," Jones said, who is motivated by memories of another trial.

"On Feb. 22, 1994, my 21-year-old son Christopher was shot in the back and killed by a 15-year-old in Romulus. The trial came down to all the legal maneuverings in the courtroom," Jones said.

"The clown got off with manslaughter instead of murder because the judge concluded that the killer only brought a .22-cal. gun with him, and that someone intent on committing murder would have brought a higher caliber weapon.

"I see the same kind of legal maneuverings going on in O.J.'s trial. The trial is a depiction of how sick our legal system is. It looks to me like you can get away with anything if you have a lot of money."

But Jones sees one silver lining. "It might wake up people to what happens in our courtrooms," he said.

The "Sick of OJ" campaign is the recent creation of Jones' friend, Gary Wilson, a Grosse Pointe Farms attorney.

"I'm sick of the media circus," he said. "As a criminal case, it's only one of hundreds of thousands of felonies charged every year. Hell, in its heyday of violence, Detroit alone posted over six hundred murders in a single year."

"So what's the big deal about this one?"

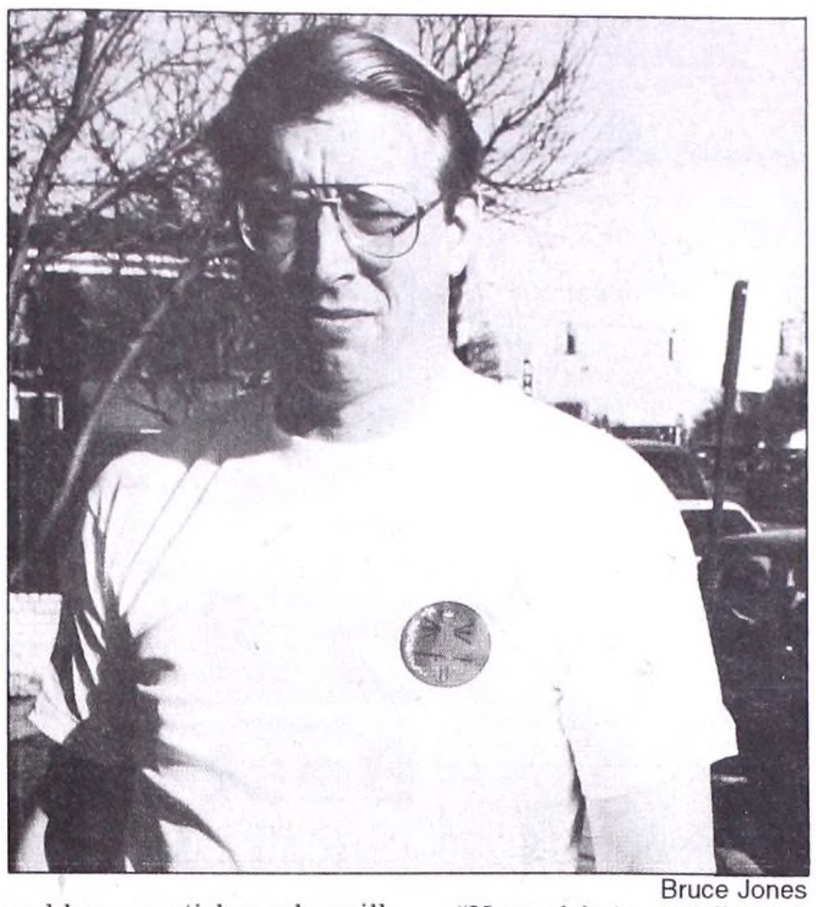
Nauseated that trial news and gossip is replacing "real news affecting real people with real problems," Wilson is hoping to build up a backlash against it.

"I honestly believe that if enough of us rise up to be heard, this ridiculous and irritating spectacle might come to a halt. At least we can try," he said.

In addition to buying shirts and bumper stickers, he urges followers to spread the word, to stop listening to the news stories, and to stop buying the tabloids.

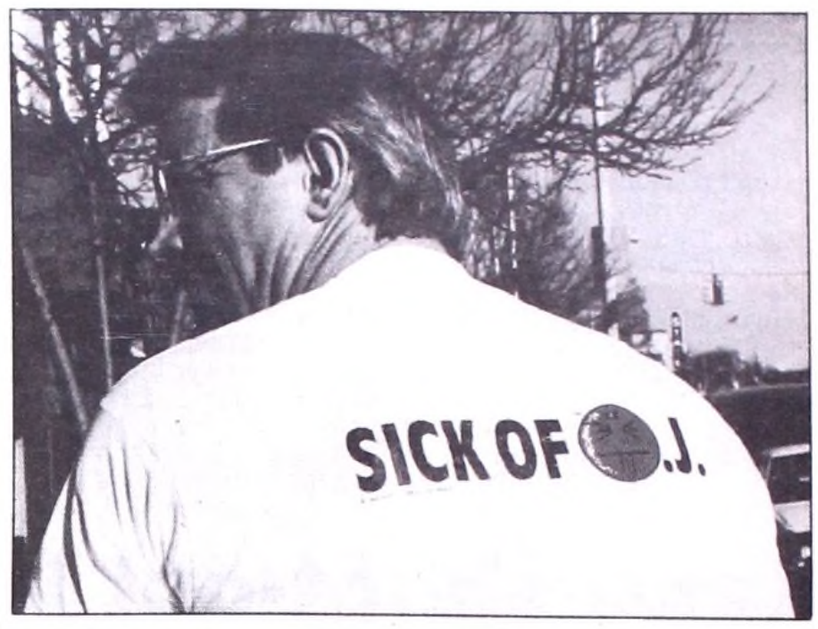
"If you want to discuss something, discuss events that actually matter," he said. "Support causes that have a positive impact on people's lives instead of wasting your breath and precious time on this pathetic Hollywood fiasco."

Half of the profits from shirt and bumper sticker sales will be donated to charity, Wilson said.



Bruce Jones

"My goal is to contribute a minimum of $100,000," he said. "This will allow some good to come out of this tragedy."



Charities will include: Coalition on Temporary Shelter, Detroit Children's Home, Foundation for Exceptional Children, Wayne County Coaiition on Domestic Violence, and others.

"Sick of OJ" products are available by mail order from World Famous Enterprises, 18530 Mack Avenue, Suite 164, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236.

T-shirts are $15 to $18 and sweatshirts are $30. Bumper stickers are $3 each or two for $5.

Reactions to the products vary.

"Some people are eating them up. Others cringe when they see the T- shirt," Jones said.

Belleville road widening considered

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

The widening of Belleville Road, between Tyler Road and the Interstate-94 North Service Drive, seems assured now that Wayne County has provided funds to pay for pre-construction engineering.

"We are going to improve and widen the section in 1996, providing the county allocates the construction money," said Supervisor David Jacokes, after County Commissioner Bruce Patterson informed him that the engineering funds were available.

Engineers will also line up Denton Road and Liberty Street, Jacokes said.

But, before the road work can begin, the right-of-ways must be purchased from businesses and property owners along the strip. The Downtown Development Authority will try to negotiate and purchase the necessary easements, using money captured from property taxes, Jacokes said.

In the future, Jacokes said he expects the widening to continue from Tyler north to Ecorse Road as part of the proposed trade port project.

"Eventually, Sumpter Road may also be five lanes," Jacokes said.

However, the city portion of Belleville Road will most likely avoid being widened. As ownership of Main Street is being transferred from Wayne County to Belleville, the city will gain control of the road. Also, the cost of purchasing the right-of-way from businesses fronting Main Street would probably be prohibitive and most likely destroy the existing buildings.

Parents cope with difficult role in the 1990s

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Managing Editor

Four challenges face parents who are raising children in the 1990s, according to an educator from Wayne State University.

Dr. Sharon Elliott, assistant dean of the WSU College of Education, shared her views on children and family involvement with members of the YWCA of Western Wayne County at its Feb. 28 annual meeting.

"Never before has there been a more difficult time to raise children," Elliott told the group.

"There are four challenges for parents and supporters of families," she said, "and supporters of families includes each of us."

First, she said, parents must provide children with unconditional love, but that love must be accompanied by teaching the child respect and responsibility.

"We must love them and allow them freedom to grow and trust, and also to respect people," Elliott said. "Provide guidance and don't discipline too much and too hard."

Secondly, children must have a safe and healthy environment in which to live.

"It is easier when the child is young, but when they move up in age, it becomes harder. As the child matures, he encounters the temptations of the world and those with different values," Elliott said.

Dr. Sharon Elliott

"Sometimes, children who have the best parents go astray. It can be a matter of good luck that children aren't led astray," she said. "When children have needs that we can't deal with, then we must reach out to friends, school, organizations and churches. And, we must be willing to reach out to other children in need of guidance."

The third challenge, Elliott said, is to provide a good role model for all children - our own and others.

"Children need people to look up to. We need to be there to offer help, and also to ask for help when we need it," she said.

Elliott sees the fourth challenge as allowing the child to develop and grow and accomplish.

"The young are eager to learn, and they learn by doing. The parent (or the person who cares for the child) is the first and most important teacher," Elliott said. "Teach the child how to behave and stress the importance of education. Help the child to grow.

"My final message is that it is not an easy time to be a parent and raise children. We all want to do well in the role," Elliott said, noting that she is aware of at least 10 YWCA-sponsored program that can aid children and families to face the challenges.

Summer concerts to entertain residents

A series of summer concerts, sponsored by the Belleville Area Music Committee, will begin June 18 with the St. Andrew Bagpipe Band appearing at the National Strawberry Festival.

The pipers will appear on the downtown stage at 2 p.m.

The following concerts are slated at 3 p.m. Sundays between June 25 and Aug. 13 at the gazebo in Victory Park:

- Huron Valley Express, June 25
- Ypsilanti Community Band, July 2
- Chautauqua Express, July 9
- Benny and the Jets, July 16
- Novi Concert Band, July 23
- Tenaj, July 30
- Trademark, Aug. 6
- Black Mist, Aug. 13

A symphony performance "under the stars" will be presented at 8 p.m. Aug. 10 at Van Buren Park by the Ann Arbor Summer Symphony. A gourmet picnic lunch, hosted by the Belleville Area Council for the Arts, will be served prior to the concert.

Sentencing set for Wayne man accused of possession

By MARGO DEWEY

> - Lt. Mel Drews

A Wayne man is expected to be sentenced this week for simple drug possession of less than .25 grams before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Prentis Edwards.

Jonathon Baker, 35, was accused of possession with intent to distribute cocaine. He was arrested by Wayne police as a result of an undercover investigation.

Inkster attorney Steven Bullock, who represented Baker was satisfied with the jury verdict stating that the jury rejected the argument that Baker was involved in drug sales and simply convicted him for the cocaine found in his sock.

Police seized approximately $70,000 worth of drugs from the defendant's Park Hill apartment in Wayne May of 1993. A search of Baker at the time of his arrest revealed four rocks of crack cocaine in his sock.

Upon entry officers also found numerous electronic items and jewelry which is suspected to have been stolen.

Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews said Baker is a parole violator.

"He was running a business in Inkster and in this area (Wayne)," Drews said. "Several of the articles that were stolen were from Brighton."

Gang shoot-out leads to arrest of suspect

> Wayne police would appreciate anyone who may have witnessed the incident to call 721-1414.

A March 8 arraignment on information is scheduled for a Detroit man charged with carrying a concealed weapon in Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court.

Brandon Michael Gorski was allegedly involved in what is suspected to be a gang-related shoot-out Feb. 10 on Second Street in Wayne.

Gorski was allegedly assisted by a Wayne youth who is in the Wayne County youth home as a result of the incident.

"We received a call from someone who observed the incident," said Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews. "The Detroit man and the juvenile were arrested for firing a weapon at an Escort with several people in the vehicle. The two individuals were seated in a van."

Gorski was the driver and the juvenile was the passenger. Both suspects are alleged to be gang members who were shooting at other alleged gang members, according to Drews.

No one was injured in the shoot-out. The weapon was thrown from the vehicle on Second Street, however, the Wayne police canine, Bullet, managed to track the handgun down, according to police.

Drews said the gun used in the shoot-out was stolen from Taylor.

Wayne police would appreciate anyone who may have witnessed the incident to call 721-1414.

Man accused of sexually assaulting Wayne woman

By MARGO DEWEY
News Editor

A March 15 sentencing has been scheduled for a Wayne man charged with three counts of first-degree criminal sexual conduct in the alleged assault of a Wayne woman in Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court.

Ronald James Holt, 19, plead guilty Jan. 11 before Judge Dalton Roberson.

"She was the one who called the police with the complaint," said Drews.

Holt was arraigned Aug. 15, 1994 before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold. A not-guilty plea was entered at the arraignment for Holt, and a $100,000 cash bond was set.

If the defendant is sentenced on all three counts of criminal sexual conduct, he could receive up to life in prison, according to Drews.

Church receives facelift

By GRETCHEN MADICK
MCN Staff Writer

The First Baptist Church of Canton is on the move with major renovation plans which met with township approval at the Feb. 28 meeting.

"We are obviously pleased that our township board has given approval and are looking forward to breaking ground in the next month or so," said Robert Leatherwood, director of music for the church.

New facilities and remodeling of the existing building will add 17,860 square feet on to the church.

Included in the addition will be a new sanctuary, nurseries, offices, choir rehearsal rooms and restrooms, which will be connected to the existing structure by a new vestibule.

The existing building will undergo major modifications, changing the existing sanctuary into a gym.

Inkster girl earns 'Carrier of the Month' recognition for dedication

>
> - Angie Wesley

Angelelec (Angie) Wesley, a seventh grader at Robichaud High School, gives the customers on her route the best service she can provide.

When asked what makes a good carrier, Angie said it is one who delivers papers on time - every time, is courteous to customers and pays his or her bill on time.

She also works at getting two new customers each month on her Inkster Ledger-Star route on Avondale, Hopkins, John Daly, Carlysle, Ross, Andover, Notre Dame, New York and Spring Hill.

"I want to thank my family for helping me with the papers when I'm sick," Angie said.

She has had the route since 1993, and currently has 30 paid customers.

The successful route is the result of teamwork by the Wesley family. Angie's grandmother drives her, and, if she is ill, her brother, Peyton, 9, and sister, Asia, 6, take her place. Asia plans to be a newspaper carrier herself when she is older.

"I use the money I make to buy things for myself. But, when there is a special occasion, like someone's birthday, I use the money for a present," Angie said.

Angie also has been the recipient of tips for her good service. At Christmas, one customer gave her $10.

When she isn't busy with school and her paper route, Angie likes to roller skate and see action movies.

Man accused of weapons charge

By MARGO DEWEY
MCN News Editor

An April 13 disposition conference has been scheduled for a Wayne man charged with possession of firearms in Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court.

Richard Lee Batalucco was arrested after a search was conducted of his apartment by Wayne police.

"We received a tip from a caller who informed us of the defendant possessing weapons," said Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews. "The individual is a felon, and felons cannot possess firearms."

Wayne police obtained a search warrant and upon entry of the defendant's residence in Wayne, they found numerous firearms.

Batalucco stood mute during his arraignment on information Jan. 23 before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold. A $5,000 personal bond was set.

Texas Regimented school program becomes successful

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Classrooms feature rapid-fire drills and strict discipline, and the results of this "old fashioned" learning are raising eyebrows in the educational systems across the nation.

In a 99 percent poor school district in Texas, fifth-graders are reading Shakespeare and Steinbeck, and pupils in early grades are able to recite all 50 states and their capitals.

What is even more spectacular is that the system has resulted in lower drop out rates and higher graduation and college entry scores, and its test scores are among the top 25 percent porfile in Texas.

Daily, approximately 30 visitors visit the Wesley Elementary School in Houston, Texas, to witness the massive educational and disciplinary changes that have occurred within the school since conservative Principal Thaddeus Lott took over 17 years ago.

Romulus Superintendent Dr. William Bedell, four state board of education members and a state senator were among recent visitors to the unique school.

> We don't need to adopt a program this strict but it is at least a good point to begin our conversation about change.
> - Dr. William Bedell
> Romulus superintendent

The success of Lott's program along with low local student Michigan Education Assessment Program (MEAP) test scores will help create a lively debate on the drastic changes needed in the Romulus School District, Bedell said.

"We don't need to adopt a program this strict," Bedell said, "but it is at least a good point to begin our conversation about change."

The heavily regimented school program created by disciplinarian Lott during the last 17 years instills learning as a top priority among the students.

Probably one of the most startling elements of the Wesley Elementary curriculum (particularly in this non-reading generation of students nationally) is that fifth graders there read and enjoy works of dramatist William Shakespeare and novelist John Steinbeck.

While critics of the program call it "old fashioned" with its rapid fire drills of repetition, supporters call it successful particularly in the area of educational testing scores.

It also has resulted in lower drop out rates and higher graduation and college entry scores. The program has also gained the support of the parents of the students, as is evidenced by the clothing and demeanor of the students in the classrooms.

The teaching concept is sure to draw fire from some teachers and parents, but local educational leaders say "maybe that is what it takes to create positive change."

Eagle VIP Special Page

Michigan Community Newspapers is offering a unique first-of-its-kind savings program to our readers. We call it the Eagle VIP Card, which you can easily obtain by calling our offices at 729-4000.

There is no special trick or extra cost to begin using the VIP CARD. All you have to do is obtain a copy of this newspaper, look inside for the special VIP pages, decide which discounts you want to take advantage of, and then go to the participating place of business and present your EAGLE VIP CARD. Upon presentation of the EAGLE VIP CARD you qualify for the special VIP pages in the newspaper.

Participating businesses have been encouraged to offer the very best discounts. You won't find coupons or offers in other publications that are better deals than the offers advertised in this newspaper. And you don't have to waste time cutting coupons out to take advantage of the deals. All you have to do is present your card to the appropriate business and the savings are automatically yours.

Finally, your VIP CARD is good for a year. We would hope that you become accustomed to using the card over and over each and every time you need to make a purchase. Naturally, it is equally important to subscribe to Michigan Community Newspapers to ascertain which businesses are participating and what special discounts that they are offering. We are constantly adding new businesses to the VIP PROGRAM and they often are changing their specials on a weekly basis, so it pays to check this page out often. For additional information feel free to call us, anytime. Just dial 729-4000.

Focus on BUSINESS

A section devoted to 13 of the area's finest businesses

1995

Business is booming in western Wayne County from the small business magnate to the health industry.

Consumers are demanding better services, quality merchandise and affordability. Businesses are meeting those standards and more.

The key in the 1990s to building a solid foundation in a company involves having a listening ear.

If a company pays attention to what their customers want, they will succeed. Customer satisfaction has nudged its way back into every business door, and it looks like that policy will remain for years to come.

Businesses in western Wayne County have what it takes to survive the ups and downs of the economy relying on their dedicated employees and tradition of providing only the best to their customers.

Former Alex's eatery blossoms as Patch diner

By GRETCHEN MADICK
MCN Staff Writer

Growth and change accompanied the closing of Alex's Restaurant, formerly sandwiched between adjoining portions of Jack Demmer's car lot on Michigan Avenue in Wayne.

The owner, Paul Mazaris, moved his restaurant to a new location at 38910 Michigan Ave. at John Hix, and took on a new identity as the Garden Patch, which opened Aug. 1.

"A lot of customers followed us and a lot don't know," Mike Zeidan said.

"We like the city of Wayne. It's a good, small town community with a lot of good people and helpful city officials," Zeidan said.

"If anyone is dissatisfied or upset from the move, we want to have another chance to show them the difference," Zeidan added.

The owner, Paul Mazaris, has been in the restaurant business for 30 years. The Garden Patch's new location has three times as many counters than the old restaurant and is planning an expansion to have a dining room for parties, as well.

Among the many changes which have occurred since the move, a new menu was introduced Sept. 1. The menu is a combination of the new and the old. Carry out menus will be available in a couple of weeks.

"We have the quickest carry out. There's no extra cost. Just give us a call," Zeidan said.

The Garden Patch is in the process of remodeling. The restaurant is freshly painted and the booths have been recovered. The staff, assembled from both restaurants, are eager and waiting to serve everyone, Zeidan said.

Early risers will find a $1.99 breakfast available at 6:00 a.m. Entries include two eggs, a choice of hash browns or diced potatoes, bacon or sausage and toast with jelly.

While luncheon choices from the menu are available anytime, specials run from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. with a lunch express that's ready in 15 minutes. Fifteen sandwich items are available to choose from, served with soup and potato chips for $2.99.

Special dinner items like stuffed cabbage, beef tips or spare ribs with homemade soups are offered several times a week. A popular choice is Delmonico steak with a choice of potato, a vegetable, soup or salad and pie or homemade rice pudding for $5.99.

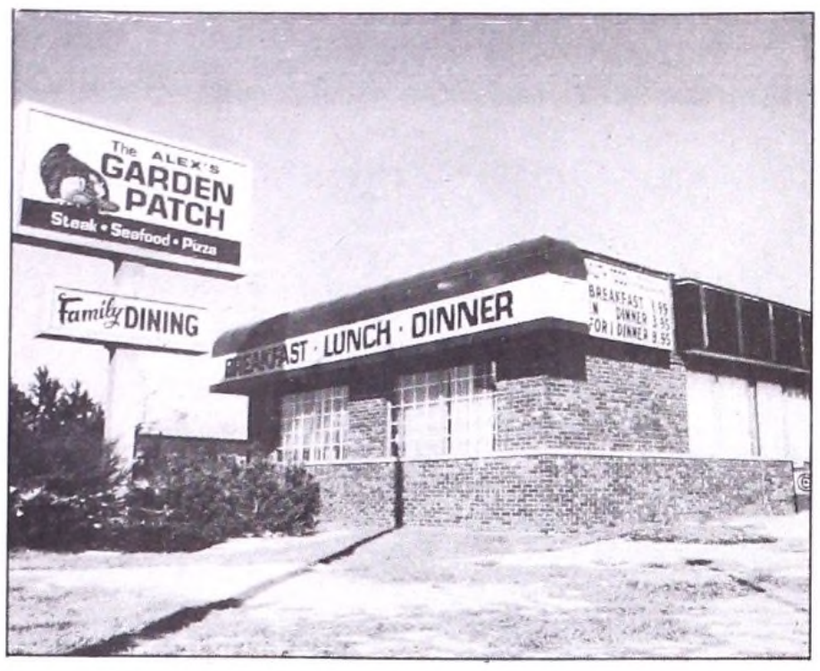
A senior dinner menu offers special dietary choices of eight to 10 items and is served from 3 p.m. Seniors can expect dinner, beverage and a desert included in the price of $3.95.

Summer hours extend until 11 p.m.

The Mazaris family has been charity-minded in the community, serving 250 homeless a Thanksgiving dinner at the new location. Previous Thanksgiving dinners at Alex's seated 600.

Open to suggestions, Zeidan is anxious to please everyone.

"That's what we're here for," he said.



Its new name is Garden Patch, but old customers remember it as Alex's Restaurant, located on Michigan Avenue at John Hix.

In Touch makes paging device, communicating more affdordable

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

Unable to find an affordable source for pagers or cellular phones in Western Wayne County, entrepreneurs Tony Lacey and Clifton Murphy decided to create one. So they opened In Touch Communications at 6719 Middlebelt Road, Garden City.

"We wanted to make paging affordable so others aren't priced out of the communications market like we were," said Lacey.

As a result, In Touch Communications offers individuals and businesses two ways to save money:

1) by offering toll free paging numbers, and 2) by providing paging service for as low as $6.95 per month, with special rates available for businesses.

Offers that In Touch Communications can make because the company markets pager service directly to the user, including service from Ameritech, Pagenet, Autotouch, and Pagemart.

"We're a one-stop shop," said Lacey.

Customers also learn product differences. For example, pagers can simply retrieve messages or they can be as complex as Casio's Portable Office, which receives news bulletins and weather forecasts, has an appointment scheduler and a business card database, and can download files to a computer.

Product maintenance is easy for In Touch Communications' customers because the company services and repairs its products.

The full service concept resulted from the partners' business experience. Before opening In Touch Communications, Lacey worked 10 years in sales and Murphy worked 13 years in management. Beth Lacey, Tony's wife, worked in accounting and office management for Budco, Inc. for 13 years.

"We're all customer oriented," said Lacey.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Thursday and Saturday- 7 and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday.

For more information, please call 427-3355.

Low pricing is also available on pagers manufactured by NEC, Casio, and Motorola, and on cellular phones by NEC, Sujitsu, Motorola, and Audiovox. And on accessories, such as cases and chains.

The low prices have opened the world of high tech communications to everyone.

"Everybody who uses a telephone should consider using a pager," said Lacey. "With a pager, you can become mobile and still stay in touch with your life." Both pagers and mobile phones help people on the go stay in touch with clients, friends, children and babysitters.

"In cases of an emergency, you can always be contacted," he said.

Since every person or business has different needs, In Touch Communications devotes a lot of time to educating shoppers. Colorful maps are posted in the shop to graphically show the different ranges of the pager and cellular phone service providers.

"We can provide service all over the United States," said Lacey.

Specializing in carry out, No Extra Charge!

Star athletes share skills

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

Jay Politi learned the value of a supervised fitness program while playing college football.

As one of University of Central Florida's offensive guards, he thrived on the athletic training routines used to build up linemen's strength and endurance.

At Olympia, his new fitness club at 28003 Eight Mile Road, Livonia, Politi has hired former professional athletes and college coaches to share the routines used to keep premium athletes at their best with the public.

"Our professionals set up individual programs for every person and show them how to do all the exercises," said Politi. "We have programs to increase muscle size, improve tone, or to take off weight and inches. We also have programs for high school athletes, including beginners."

On Olympia's staff are John Green, a former Chicago Bear running back; Tony Johnson, former Ohio Central State University's football coach; and Tony Kubien, a body builder. Kubien won the 1992 National Teen Body Building Championship and has been featured in Flex Magazine.

To introduce the staff to fitness enthusiasts, Olympia is offering a free one-month trial membership with no obligations.

"That's how much we believe in our programs," Politi said.

Included in the trial are:

- full use of the gear in Olympia's 10,000 square-foot, mirrored workout room, including free weights, cardiovascular equipment, and all-new Technistar exercise machines.
- a daily aerobics program led by certified trainer Shirley Nyikon;
- use of the European tanning salon;
- use of the spacious locker room and shower facilities; and,
- use of the day care center, which accepts infants.

"We're offering a taste of everything," said Politi. "Trial members will get their programs set up and free use of tanning salon."

Though only two weeks old, Olympia has already attracted 200 members, including many families. Members are attracted by the comfortable atmosphere and friendly terms. "There are no long-term contracts or obligations," said Politi.

The Olympia is Politi's sixth fitness center. Previously, he owned five in Florida. He chose Olympia because he grew up in the Detroit area.

Hours are 5:30 to 11 p.m. weekdays, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturdays and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sundays.

Hegira provides mental health, substance treatment

When you think of a place to go for mental health or substance abuse treatment services you may think of Hegira Programs, Inc. and not even know it. Names such as Oakdale Recovery Center, Romulus Help Center, Livonia Counseling Center, or Psychiatric Intervention Center may come to mind. These are all part of Hegira Programs.

Hegira Programs, Inc. has been providing mental health and substance abuse treatment services to people in the community since 1971. As a matter of fact, Hegira has over 250 employees, which includes psychiatrists, psychologists, master's level clinicians, nurses, and attendants who specialize in behavioral health treatment. Hegira is also one of the largest free-standing behavioral health treatment providers in the State of Michigan.

> Hegira's mission is to provide high quality and customer responsive behavioral health services.

Many changes have been taking place at Hegira. New treatment services and treatment service locations have been added, while some of their other treatment services have been relocated. David Steinrock, Assistant Vice President at Hegira Programs stated that "just like health care in general, behavioral health is going through a change as the private and public sector redefines itself in terms of cost effectiveness and customer service. Hegira's mission is to provide high quality and customer responsive behavioral health services." Therefore, periodic changes need to occur.

Hegira officials have been providing mental health and substance abuse treatment services to people in the community since 1971. MCN Special Photo

Some of the most recent changes at Hegira are: First, the Community Commission on Drug Abuse (CCODA) is now a division of Hegira Programs. CCODA treatment centers include Westland Counseling Center, Livonia Counseling Center, Northville Counseling Center, The Court Program, Adolescent Recovery Center, and CCODA Prevention Network. This expands Hegira's treatment service availability to a wider geographic area as well as offering more intervention options (Intensive Outpatient and Outpatient treatment services for both adults and adolescents).

Second, Hegira's Community Mental Health Center, which provides Outpatient, Aftercare and Case Management treatment services to adults with mental health problems, moved from Wayne to Westland. And, third, Hegira's Administrative Offices relocated from Inkster to Westland to make room for a new mental health vocational training program to be offered at their Inkster location.

Carol Mastroianni, Marketing Director and Customer Satisfaction Team Leader adds "we truly want to be responsive to our customers' needs and expectations. Therefore, we are always looking at the treatment services we provide, from both a clinical and customer point of view. Our customers are our clients, their families/significant others, the referral source(s), and the payer(s). Open communication and a 'working together attitude' are necessary to ensure that treatment is being delivered in a responsive, individualized manner."

Hegira offers a full continuum of mental health and substance abuse treatment services to insured individuals as well as those individuals who qualify for State funding. All treatment services are strictly confidential.

For information about Hegira's treatment services, call 313/458-4601 for confidential assistance.

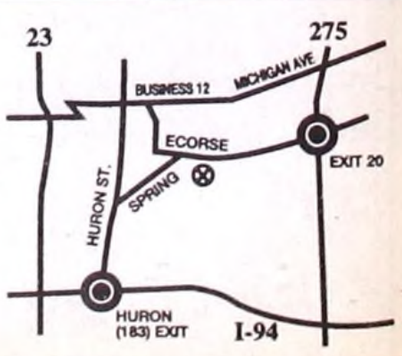
SALES PARTS ACCESSORIES SERVICE



Motorsport owners offer an entire line of cycles

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

An experienced long-time motorcycle enthusiast and a veteran marina specialist have teamed up as new owners of the Michigan Motorsports Inc. of Ypsilanti.

"We are really enthusiastic about our products and services because we're selling fun," co-owner Ron Cayce revealed last week.

Cayce and his partner, Dennis Greco, purchased the company in August 1994 and since then they have conducted a major remodeling of the interior of the recreational vehicle sales facility.

Cayce, who has enjoyed the freedom of riding cycles since his mid-teen years, specializes in overseeing the full line of Suzuki cycles, including the Katana 600 CC sport bike.

"We sell more of the Katana cycles than anywhere else across the U.S.," Cayce said. The Katanas come in several basic color styles, teal (greenish) as well as black and purple

Michigan Motor Sports also offers sports cycle models RF 900 and RF 600, Cayce said, and the speedy GSXR 1100.

Since remodeling the 4,000 square foot showroom and bedecking it with the latest product posters and banners, sales of a full line of cycle and water sport products, parts and accessories have risen 130 percent.

Cayce said he has surrounded the company with quality staff members, including "Dr." Dale Koven, "the best service department manager - bar none."

Koven has been nicknamed "Dr." because of his totally professional skills and attitude in servicing customers' vehicles, Cayce said.

> Cycling is the closest thing there is in this life to being totally free, particularly when there is no radio or backseat drivers.
>
> - Ron Cayce

Other key staff members include his son, Charlie Cayce, finance manager; Carl Mason, parts manager; Pamela Honzik, office manager; David Hamby, the company's number one salesman.

Cayce, 47, said his personal background includes lifelong ownership of more than 20 Harley and British machines. He enjoys the warm camaraderie of fellow cyclists and riding about the area with friends.

"Cycling is the closest thing there is in this life to being totally free," Cayce said, "particularly when there is no radio or backseat drivers."

Cayce also has been active in real estate sales and management and was assigned to a full range of tool and die operations at Cadillac Division's body assembly plant.

Cayce also has an associates degree in psychology from Wayne County Community College.

"I've also taken a key role in building and marketing an organization that manufactures and markets customized, limited edition Ford Mustangs known as Piranhas," Cayce stated.

The Ypsilanti sales office is located at 1196 Ecorse Road in Ypsilanti. Its doors are open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday. Further information can be obtained by calling 1-313-483-6367.

Yamaha watercraft offered at Motorsport establishment

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Spending 35 of his 42 years working in every aspect of marina life has given Dennis Greco a treasure of boating and water sport experience.

Greco, a partner in the Michigan Motorsports Inc. sales facility in Ypsilanti, revealed he grew up working for many years at his parents' 30-acre marina on Harsen's Island.

"I've done everything in marina life from serving as busboy, clean-up person, head go-for specialist, etc.," Greco said, and "because of that I have become an intense people person and I have owned between 12 and 15 boats in my lifetime."

Greco said his first experiences were with rowboats and small power boats and have escalated to 38-foot cruisers.

Today, he is successfully marketing all types of Yamaha water craft including Wave Raiders, Wave Runners and Super Jets.

He has done some off-shore racing and speed skiing and is happy that both he and his partner, Ron Cayce, are known as "hands-on owners," who stay involved in all facets of the sales program at Michigan Motorsports.

> We remain in constant contact with our customers, because we have a deep desire to develop our sales operations here in the future.
> - Dennis Greco

Greco said, "We remain in constant contact with our customers, because we have a deep desire to develop our sales operations here in the future. To become the leading edge of the market, you have to know your customers and we feel we excell at that."

Greco also pursues his people-person philosophy at his other business, Legends night club at 415 Congress in Detroit. The night-time entertainment center formerly was known as "Chassy's"

Greco owned both clubs and said they attracted many of the top area sport stars including Tiger great Cecil Fielder, Piston starter Terry Mills, as well as many musical and stage stars.

Greco said Michigan Motorsports keeps an expectant eye on the baby boomer generation, since they are the key to their market.

"It's predicted that the cycle market won't peak for another five years and the water vehicles won't top for at least three years."

Michigan Motorsports also offers a wide variety of dirt bikes and snowmobiles, he said.

"Our referral business has begun working area," Greco said, "which is surprising since we have only owned the business since last August. But most customers have seen such a sharp change in business styles they are telling their friends and family members."

The average of Michigan Motorsports customers ranges from 18 to 45, Greco said, and because of their excitement with our products and services we have been shattering company records each quarter.

Marygrove awnings offer style, savings

By KIMBERLY WOLOSKIE
MCN Staff Writer

If you're a home or business owner interested in not only improving the aesthetic value of your property but the possible reduction of energy costs you may consider installing an awning.

Awnings are stylish, increase the visibility of your business and can reduce the overall temperature of a room by 10 to 15 degrees in the summer months.

Marygrove Awnings of Livonia, located at 12700 Merriman Road, has been installing awnings since 1933. They come in a variety of colors and sizes as well as fabrics. An awning can also provide protection from the suns rays adding years to the lifetime or your furniture, hardwood floors, carpets and draperies.

According to owner Bill Bellinger, an awning can be installed to many needs.

"We find people wanting awnings installed on their porches or patios to reduce their exposure to the sun as well as a bright, colorful advertisement of their businesses name," said Bellinger. Awnings can also reduce air conditioning costs by 10 percent.

Crafted and designed in a variety of fabrics, awnings can be ordered in canvas, vinyl coated canvas, acrylics and polyester. The materials are all water repellent and washable ensuring the value of your investment.

Marygrove offers a service to customers that allows them to have their awning removed during the winter months, washed, stored and re- installed for the spring and summer season. "The storage of an awning protects the fabrics from the wear and tear that might occur because of snow or freezing temperatures," said Bellinger.

Marygrove is located at 12700 Merriman Road.

> We find people wanting awnings installed on their porches or patios to reduce their exposure to the sun as well as bright, colorful advertisement of their businesses name.
>
> - Bill Bellinger

The awning company will service a 30 to 40 mile radius or more with more than 30 employees. According to the owner there is a low turn over rate for employees so they offer customers guaranteed quality work. The employees are experienced salespersons, seamers, and installers that have installed awnings in every conceivable situation said Bellinger.

Marygrove guarantees their fabrics for five years at a prorated basis. The sales staff recommends orders be placed by April 1 to avoid any price increases. The businesses peak months are during May and June for orders.

Customers can expect a three to four week period from initial consultation to installation. Customers can make an appointment with a salesperson that will visit your home or business with photo and fabric samples of awning you can choose from.

For more information or to make a consultation appointment call 422- 7110. The store hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays.

Leak specialists make any home water tight

By GRETCHEN MADICK
MCN Staff Writer

In the season when dribbles and drips in downstairs locations may damper anticipation of spring, Water Tite makes house calls throughout Southeastern Michigan with a solution to the problem.

Trustworthiness and versatility have contributed to Water Tite's success.

"We service what your needs are. Some only do the crack or sell an interior drain system unnecessarily. We can take care of the crack and the problem is solved without additional, unnecessary expense," said Polly Bradburn of the family-owned business.

Water Tite treats new buildings as well as older, existing ones with 90 percent of their business in new construction.

"We're the leak specialist for all your waterproofing needs," Bradburn said.

When dealing with new construction, "We waterproof before it's backfilled with a water board membrane, insulation and drainage," Bradburn said.

A 10-year manufacturer's warranty accompanies the new home system called Tough and Dry by Koch materials, ensuring a dry basement which is safe to finish off.

Tough and Dry is popular with many new builders. Some provide it as standard construction, while others offer it as an option. The advantage of Tough and Dry is that it eliminates any concern over leaks in the future, making finished-off basements a safe endeavor.

Crack repairs are handled with a two-part epoxy injection system, which handles cracks from the inside. Interior drain tile systems are accomplished by chiseling around the basement floor and putting in new sump pumps or drain sewers.

Sump pumps are priced by the lineal foot. Inside leaks are repaired by excavation. While the outside repair is more costly, outside repairs prevent water from ever coming in, Bradburn explained.

When there is water in the ground, the water pressure pushes up against a wall and that's how the damage starts. Water Tite's approach insulates and relieves the hydrostatic pressure off of the wall.

They also sell a clear brick sealer, used on subfloors or chimneys.

Community Comfort celebrates 25 years of dependability

By GRETCHEN MADICK
MCN Staff Writer

Commitment to Canton appears to have a reciprocal affect in the family-owned business of Community Comfort Service.

Celebrating 25 years in the business of servicing and installing air conditioning, heating and ventilation work on commercial and residential establishments, owner Tom Knight and his son Dave are pleased with their Canton location.

"Canton is a nice, growing community. We're members of the Canton and Plymouth Chambers of Commerce and the businesses are positive as well as friendly. This is a very nice community. We have a separate community and industrial center. When communities are populated throughout an industrial center, it's not as aesthetically pleasing. Canton is also fast-growing," Knight said.

Community Comfort and Service has been well-received by Canton, as the Knight family cites a growth of 40 percent a year.

"We have credibility within the community. Letters from people are really nice. People have treated us as number one. There's a fine class of people here. Good testimonials," Knight said.

Tom Knight and his son, Dave, pride themselves with a "Leadership" designation with the Carrier Company, the leading manufacturer of all heating and air conditioning equipment in the world, according to Knight. The leadership designation is the highest of five levels that the network of dealers are judged on.

"We're more than a niche company. We service with the best, most energy efficient equipment on the market," Knight said, noting that a weather service contract and maintenance agreement are offered as well.

Knight's commitment to Carrier furnaces is at the root of his leadership position. Knight advocates their top-of-the-line product called, "Infinity," which he says is the highest rated, most efficient furnace on the market in terms of heating and electrical provisions.

A heating and air conditioning system that might cost $175 a year could be done cheaper with an "Infinity" system which would range $45. a year to do the same thing.

A strong furnace without a good air delivery system isn't useful, Knight explained. Sizing is important, as well as correct locations.

> We provide fair and honest estimates on all the work we do.
>
> - Ron Amann owner

Having car troubles? Do your neighbors hear your car coming before they see it? Are your brakes squeaking? Wear Master of Wayne can service your car, usually in a days time, and guarantee their work for the lifetime of your car.

Wear Master, located at 34655 Michigan Ave. in Wayne, offers serving and replacement on brakes, shocks, and mufflers. They also provide lifetime warranties on muffles, struts, shocks, pads, and shoes if your car needs replacement parts. The owner of Wear Master prides himself on their fast and friendly service of automobiles.

"We provide fair and honest estimates on all the work we do," said owner Ron Amann. The auto service center is open to meet the needs of your car and your schedule. "You can drive in or schedule an appointment to have your car serviced with us," said Amann. The service center, part of a chain of Wear Masters, is open 6 days a week to guarantee customer satisfaction. No job is too small for the specialists at the auto repair business, from oil changes to the installation of a new brake system.

The center is able to provide top service for preparing your car for the spring and summer months as well as diagnostic equipment to determine current or potential problems with your vehicle.

The shop is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturdays. For more information or to schedule an appointment for your car to be serviced call 729-9700.

The family owned and operated Leon's Family Dining restaurants have made customers feel like royalty since 1983.

"You've seen our advertisements in newspapers and on TV," owner Sam Leon explained. "We'd like to encourage you to try for yourself and compare our prices, quality food, family atmosphere and friendly service."

Leon's daily menu includes home-cooked meals, specially prepared different soup offerings each day, and a 10 percent senior citizen discount for all meals $3 and over all day long, Leon said.

We've made a tradition of specializing operations at our six restaurants to "pleasing customers," Leon said.

The restaurants are located in Westland, Novi, Livonia (two sites) and a new location in Lincoln Park.

Leon's features breakfasts as low as $2.25 from 6 to 11 a.m., lunches featuring 40 different soup, sandwich and French fry combinations for $3.95.

"We also offer dinner specials daily for $9.80 for two dinners," Leon said.

Another menu special that customers find extremely tasty, Leon said, is the famous rice pudding, complete with raisins, cinnamon and whipped cream.

Leon's Family Dining sites also are famous for their free Thanksgiving Eve dinners offered each year to the homeless, senior citizens and regular customers.

Popularity of pasties spans peninsulas

> Old-time customers will be happy to hear that Fox, who is about 80 now, is retired and living back in Iron Mountain.
>
> - Sesto Alessandro owner

Once an Upper Peninsula treat, pasties have gained popularity throughout Michigan, particularly in Western Wayne County.

"The business was started about 50 years ago by John Fox from Iron Mountain. He had a shop on Grand River and then moved to Schaefer Road before opening the Fox Pasty Shop at 20001 Carlysle in Dearborn.

"We located near Pelham and Outer Drive, near the Adray Appliance store," said present owner Sesto Alessandro.

"Old-time customers will be happy to hear that Fox, who is about 80 now, is retired and living back in Iron Mountain," said Alessandro.

Although some might think Alessandro would be more at home making pizza or spaghetti, the Italian shop owner has no qualms about baking the Cornish treat.

Miners from Cornwall, England, brought the pasty with them from their home country when they moved to the Upper Peninsula to work in the copper mines. Pasties, which are meat and potatoes baked in a crust, were quickly adopted by Finns and other ethnic groups because they made an ideal meal to take into the mines.

Alessandro makes the traditional pasty with steak, potatoes and onions. He also makes pasties with rutabagas or carrots if they are ordered, and chicken pasties are available.

"Pasties stay hot for hours when they are wrapped up," Alessandro said. "And, they are not just Upper Peninsula food. Everybody likes them. Try them. You'll like them."

> - Linda Macchiarolo

The mall (located at 35323 Plymouth Road, between Wayne and Levan Roads) features sales items from 350 craft and antique dealers. The handicapped accessible 26,000 square foot shopping mall is opened 7 days a week and includes a relaxing Rose Bud Cafe that offers sandwiches, cookies, juices, coffee and soda. Restrooms also are available.

The mall operations are owned by Linda Macchiarolo and her two brothers, Tom and Jim Power. They also own a larger mall facility in Sterling Heights.

The mall hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday except for Thursdays, which has extended hours 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Sunday hours are noon to 5 p.m.

Easter sale offerings include various size hand-made baskets, decorative Easter style pins, handmade chocolates, window, wall and door decorations and painted ceramic eggs, Macchiarolo said.

Other craft items currently on sale include wooden items, floral designs, painted shirts and wood products.

Costs range from 50 cent specialty pins to $400-$500 furniture pieces. Also on display is an "Antique Alley" that includes products ranging in price from $25 to $1,500.

"We also offer a wide variety of collectibles including glass and toy items.

Countryside Craft Mall and Antiques offers plenty of parking and free entrance, Macchiarolo said.

Dealers on display at the mall sign six to 12 month leases, she said, and are charged rates of $50 to $350 a week.

"The mall is operated like a department store," Macchiarolo said, "and the display owners need not be there all day. Items are pre-marked for sales at any time."

The sales area displays range from one-by-two feet for $50 a week to six-by-12 feet for $350. The average display area is three-by-six feet costing $125. There currently is a three month waiting list for display locations, she said.

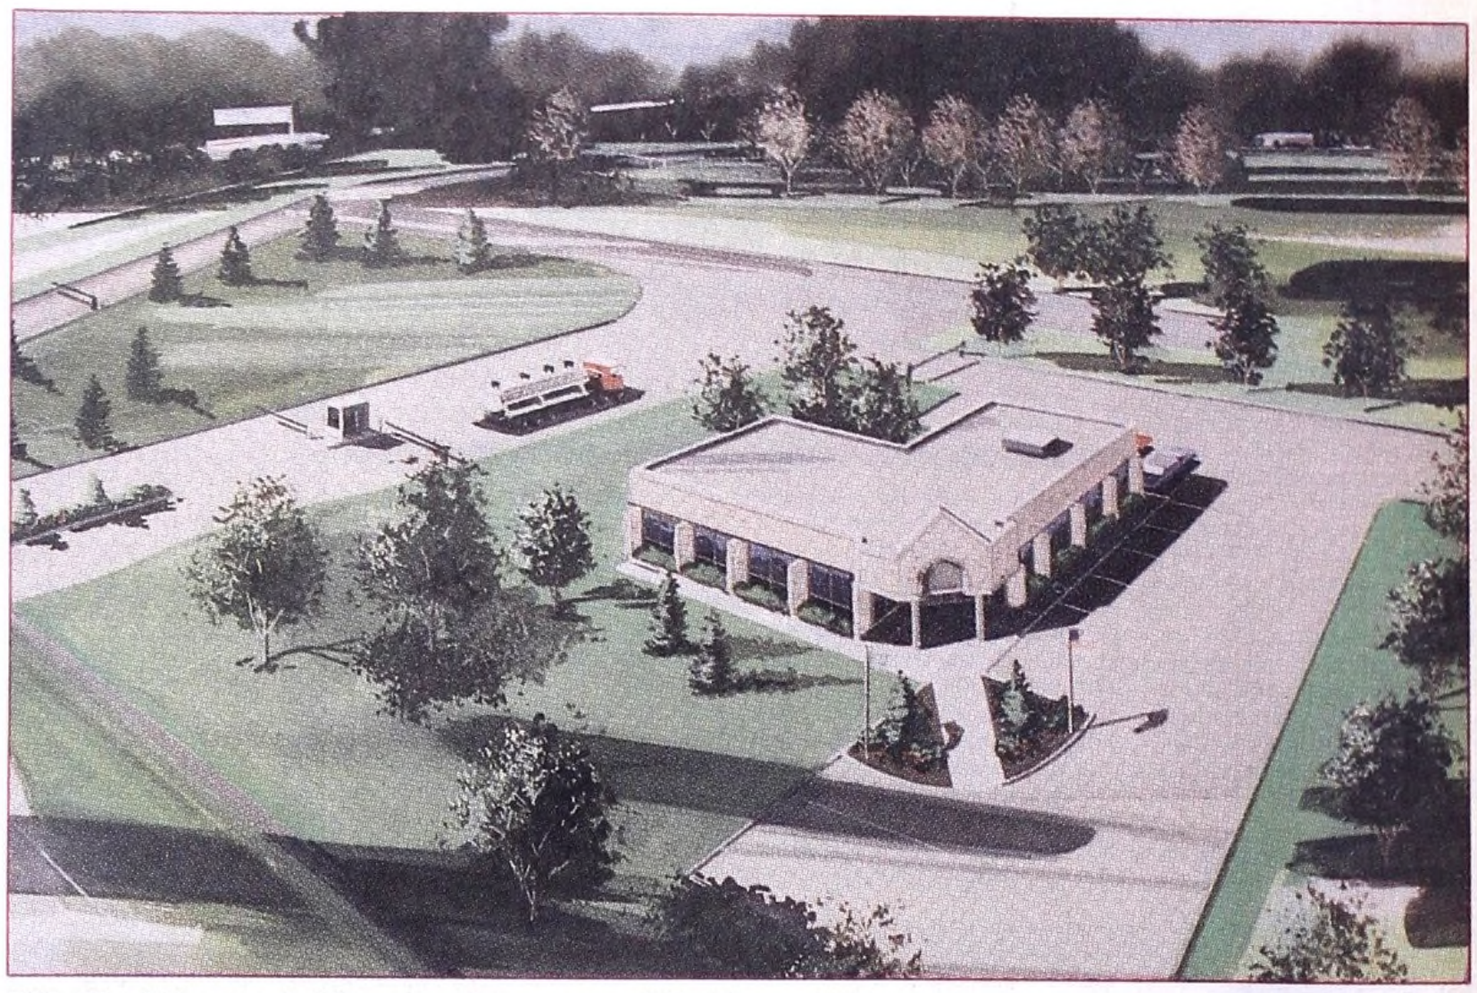
EDS Injection Well - Environmentally Sensitive and Safe



EDS Office/Laboratory Building on northwest corner of Northline and Wahrman Roads.

Today, protection of our sources of drinking water is more important than ever.

Decades of neglect of our fresh water resources by industry and the public have seriously impacted our environment. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has passed strict regulations under the Clean Water Act and is now making great strides in cleaning up our lakes, rivers and streams.

Unfortunately, industry still generates substantial quantities of liquid waste that must be disposed of safely and efficiently. Deep Well injection of these waste liquids is the safest proven technology available today.

While it's true that waste generators do have alternatives to injection well disposal, those alternatives are often not the most desirable. Frequently, disposal of hazardous liquid wastes involves treating the waste using various methods and then disposing of the residue in a landfill, or else solidifying the wastes and, again, using landfill disposal.

About 50 percent of the liquid hazardous waste generated each year in the U.S. is safely disposed of in secure subsurface geological formations using Class 1H injection wells.

- USEPA, Wasington, D.C.

Both methods are costly and both use a disposal method which deposits wastes above the water table and while recent changes in government regulations have made landfill disposal in general much more safe, many experts prefer a method of disposal that puts toxins well below our sources of drinking water and separates the two with thousands of feet of impermeable rock.

As laws designed to protect our drinking water resources become more stringent, some of the disposal methods currently permitted today will no longer be an option for industry, which will have to seek out alternative means of disposal.

The safety "track record" of deep well injection is well known."

"About 50 percent of the liquid hazardous waste generated each year in the U.S. is safely disposed of in secure subsurface geological formations using Class IH injection wells." USEPA, Washington, D.C.

"Class IH Wells are safer than virtually all other waste disposal practices." USEPA, Washington, D.C.

"...of the 20 plus industrial waste disposal wells (Class I) presently operating, we have had no instances of well failure or contamination during a period of approximately 21 years." Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

"Deep well injection and disposal has been practiced in Alberta, Canada since the 1920s and continues today with an exemplary record of environmental safety. To date we have no recorded incidents where operations at disposal wells have resulted in any significant environmental impacts. This is notable considering there are currently in excess of 5,000 injection and disposal wells, consisting of 29 Class I (hazardous) waste wells and 55 Class I waste wells, with the remainder being Class II through Class IV injection and disposal wells." Province of Alberta, Canada.

Our Romulus Deep Well Facility is located on the northwest corner of Northline and Wahrman roads. The facility will be disposing of light liquids only, most of which are comprised of approximately 90 percent water.

"First and foremost, it should be noted that there is no evidence that any potentially usable ground water has been contaminated by a Class I well operated in Ohio," according to state officials.

"Although thousands of injection wells are located in California, in which billions of barrels are injected each year, the Division's UIC program has been successful in preventing contamination of any underground source of drinking water," according to the state of California.

"Class I injection wells have been regulated by the Texas Water Commission and its predecessor agencies over the last four decades, with an excellent record of environmental protection, unequaled by other forms of land disposal," according to the state of Texas.

"In the more than 30 years since Class I injection wells have been operating in Florida, there has not been a single case where an aquifer used for a drinking water supply in the vicinity of the well has been adversely affected by injection operations," according to the state of Florida.

"...there has been no contamination of ground water or other operational problems associated with the injection of fluids into Class I deep disposal wells in Colorado." USEPA, Denver, Colo.

Our Romulus Deep well Facility is located on the northwest corner of Northline and Wahrman roads. The facility will be disposing of light liquids only, most of which are comprised of approximately 90 percent water.

During the first two years, only non-hazardous liquids will be disposed of until such time that we acquire EPA and DNR authorization for disposal of hazardous liquids.

These liquids, for the most part, have already been recycled and have no energy value. The facility cannot accept wastes that are explosive, ignitable and radioactive.

The facility will ultimately include two low-pressure deep injection wells, a modern office and laboratory building, a holding and filtration building which will prevent air and soil pollution, a rail spur security controls and extensive landscaping.

According to Red Carpet Keim Real Estate in Inkster, Mich., "We have reviewed the EDS plan for development of its deep well facility in Romulus and believe that it will be a positive contribution to the development of this area and will not cause a reduction in residential property values."

The facility's business hours will be 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to noon on Saturdays.

We have reviewed the EDS plan for development of its deep well facility in Romulus and believe that it will be a positive contribution to the development of this area and will not cause a reduction in residential property values.

- Red Carpet Keim Real Estate, Inkster

Trucks will be limited to 20 per day on weekdays and six on Saturdays. The strictly enforced truck route will be I-275 to Eureka Road to Wayne Road to Northline Road to the facility.

All of the facility's management personnel will have prior "hands-on" experience and certificates in waste management, and the person holding the title "Deep Well Operator" will have prior experience operating a Class I Deep Well and review of their credentials of EPA and DNR.

The facility will carry $10 million of liability insurance and the city of Romulus will be named as an additional insured. EPA and MDNR will require bonds before operations can begin. All trucking companies with access to the facility will carry DNR required levels of insurance and their trucks will be regularly inspected.

The facility will be subject to regular and unannounced inspections by the EPA and DNR and will be subject to strict enforcement of all EPA and DNR regulations.

The facility will provide direct benefits to the Romulus Community through creation of jobs, payment of local taxes in excess of $200,000 per year, creation of environmental educational programs, contributions to local recreational programs, preferential pricing for clean up of local dump sites and more efficient and safe disposal capability for Romulus industries.

We look forward to commencing operations at the earliest possible date and to providing a means of safe, permanent and efficient disposal to generators of liquid waste located in Romulus and southeastern Michigan.

Murder victim's mother can't forget

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

The days and months have not washed away a mother's tears whose daughter was the victim in a double homicide nearly a year ago.

"Over and over again I ask myself 'why,'" says Johnnie Tate, whose daughter, Valerie Yvette Noel Tate was shot and killed on March 28, 1993 in her home in Sumpter Township.

"Valerie would give her shirt off her back to anyone who needed it. In fact, the person who killed her needed $50 a couple of days before he shot her to death and my Valerie told him 'Come on over.' And she gave him the money," she said.

"Why would he kill her?"

Even the killer, Dossie Lee Gulley, 19, of Superior Township, who was later convicted on two counts of first-degree murder, did not have an answer.

He shot Valerie between the eyes after she begged for mercy.

"Someone asked him later why did you kill her - she always helped you, and that fool said he didn't know why."

A 1985 graduate of Inkster High School, the almond-eyed, attractive Valerie Tate always saw the good in people - never the bad.

"If anyone needed something - anything - she would help provide it if she could," said Tate, unsuccessfully trying to hold back her tears.

According to the story published in the Belleville Enterprise at the time, Gulley was apparently blinded by jealousy when he entered Valerie's home on Oakville-Waltz, between Martinsville and Sumpter Roads. He confronted Valerie and a second person, Kevin Searcy, in the house that Valerie rented and after an altercation with Searcy, Gulley pulled a gun from his waist and shot the two dead.

He then jumped in his car and raced away from the murder scene. He was caught after a police chase when he lost control of his vehicle and slammed the car into some brushes.

At the time, Sumpter Police Chief Clinton Brown said that Valerie was an innocent bystander in a tragic chain of events.

> "If anyone needed something - anything - she would help provide it if she could."
>
> Johnnie Tate

"Valerie was just a friend," the police chief added.

A friend who forfeited her young life because she apparently befriended people who returned the kindness with bullets.

Valerie also left three small children, Cody, 5; Lynita, 6; and Andrew, 8 to be cared for by her loved ones.

"I have Lynita," says Johnnie Tate. "She is the splitting image of my daughter when she was her age. The boys are being watched over by loved ones."

Tate went on to say that Valerie's life may have been short, "but she touched so many people.

"I don't know why the Lord took her from us when He did - she would have been 26 on Nov. 10, but I hope that the mothers who read this will remember to hug their children and love them, because you really don't know if they will be here tomorrow."

School evaluations begin in Romulus

Romulus School Superintendent Dr. William Bedell will unveil his time frames for professional evaluations at the Monday night school board meeting.

The board had directed Bedell give them his strategies and procedural plan for updated evaluations of the district's professional staff at the meeting.

Bedell will tell the school trustees that administrative evaluations will be completed by this June 1.

Other evaluations will continue through 1996.

The evaluation request came from a recent special board meeting that Bedell was not invited to attend. He later was presented with a letter signed by all seven board members asking that such an evaluation be conducted.

Newspaper announces new product

The Michigan Community Newspapers will be launching a new product March 19 entitled Eyewitness, a full-color magazine focusing on the pertinent issues that affect residents of ages in western Wayne County.

Eyewitness is the creation of the editorial and advertising staffs. It will include the following sections: automotive, business, classified, dining out, movies, people/places, horoscopes and personality profile.

The magazine will replace the Sunday Eagle and Enterprise.

Conference set in assault

A March 28 calender conference has been scheduled for a Belleville man charged with larceny from a person and felonious assault before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Isidore Torres.

Rickey Peters was arrested by Wayne police after allegedly trying to steal money from a Westland man at the Seven Star Market on Wayne Road in January.

The victim was getting ready to put his child in the family car which was parked in the Seven Star lot when the defendant allegedly approached him and put his hand in the Westland man's coat pocket, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

"The incident occurred approximately 2:50 p.m.," said Drews. "The black male approached the man, put his hand in the victim's pocket and retrieved money and then ran."

The victim chased the alleged thief. When he caught up with Peters, however, the defendant allegedly threatened to hit him with a beer bottle.

Police officer Thomas Warren arrived at the scene and arrested Peters. He was arraigned Jan. 22 in an out county court. Bond was set at $25,000 or 10 percent.

If the defendant is found guilty of larceny from a person, he could receive up to 10 years in prison. The felonious assault charge carries a maximum sentence of five years in prison.

Retiree prompted to be a volunteer

By KIMBERLY WOLOSKIE

Three years ago Hurricane Andrew left behind a trail of death and destruction throughout Florida affecting residents as well as seasonal vacationers.

Communities like Homestead were destroyed, leaving behind thousands of residents with nothing other than the clothes on their backs. It was through volunteer help and support that communities were able to piece their lives back together. For Westland resident Ken Duncan it was the start of a new kind of retirement.

Duncan, a retired Ford Motor employee, was heading through the Florida Keys to visit his daughter when the hurricane struck.

"The place was leveled," said Duncan. "It looked like scenes from World War II pictures."

With the amount and extent of damage, Dun-

Police investigate rock cocaine deal turned sour, dealer shoots Inkster resident in the back

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

An apparent craving for rock cocaine nearly cost a 34-year-old man his life early Wednesday morning.

The man, an Inkster resident, stumbled into the breezeway at the Inkster Police Department and told a police employee he had been shot in the back after refusing to purchase drugs from someone who flagged his car down.

"To protect the victim, we are not releasing his name or his whereabouts at this time," said Inkster Detective James Vergona, who is in charge of the investigation. "We would appreciate any help in finding the culprit or culprits involved in this attempted murder."

Police reports indicate the wounded man was in the area of Spruce and Pine streets in the southeast section of the city which has earned notoriety as a high drug-trafficking area.

According to an Inkster police report, the victim was flagged down by a would-be drug dealer and they allegedly began to negotiate for drugs.

The drug-dealer was described by the victim as a black male, approximately 6-feet tall and wearing a dark ski cap and a blue jogging suit. He approached the vehicle and produced the cocaine.

The alleged consumer didn't like what he saw, and he attempted to give the suspected rock back to the dealer.

The victim told investigating officers that he told the dealer that "didn't want the drugs," and started to drive away.

However, as he pulled away, the victim said that the irate drug dealer produced a handgun and fired one shot.

The bullet pierced the rear window on the driver's side and struck the driver in the back.

Despite the bullet hole in his back, the wounded driver managed to remain in control of his vehicle and drove the three miles to the Inks-

Home Spun Days relived

Future programs include Under the Microscope at 2 p.m. March 19, Spring is Here at 2 p.m. March 26 and Outdoor Adventures ofr Kids at 10 a.m. April 1. Details about other programs are available by calling 782-3956.

Inkster man guilty of shooting 27 rounds at home

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A 25-year-old Inkster man, who was charged with pumping 27 shots from his assault rifle into a Romulus home occupied by five persons, faces 90 days in jail after Recorders Court Judge Cynthia Hathaway found him guilty of only a misdemeanor.

Daryl Grandberry of Inkster was arrested on Jan. 28, 1994 by Romulus detectives and charged with assault with intent to murder and felony firearm violations for reportedly firing the shots into a Romulus home at 35096 Ecorse Road at 11:25 p.m. Oct. 27, 193, police said.

Hathaway concluded the one-day bench trial by ruling Grandberry was guilty of careless discharge of a firearm.

Detective Lt. Kenneth Kraus said the home owner, William Scott, and four other family members were in the home when the gunfire took place, but no one was injured.

Scott, who has since died of natural causes, had testified one of the shots passed over his head, while traveling the full length of the house.

A three-month investigation led to Grandberrry's arrest and the confiscation of his SKS-7.62 calibre semi-automatic rifle. Kraus said tests positively revealed that the rifle was the weapon used in the shooting.

Police report that the shooting was in retaliation for Scott's ordered towing of Grandberry's vehicle earlier from the Ecorse address.

Two vehicles also were heavily damaged during the shooting. They were a 1992 Ford pickup truck

Ex-employee charged in $12,000 go-go bar robbery

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

An ex-employee of a popular Inkster go-go bar was bound over Wednesday to Recorder's Court to stand trial on armed robbery charges.

Clarence Lake, employed at Bogart's Lounge on Michigan Avenue as a janitor at the bar, is accused of stealing about $12,000 from the lounge and concocting a story that he had been robbed by three men who had forced their way into the building.

Contradictions in his story to Inkster police led investigators to believe that Lake had been involved in the holdup.

"We are still looking for the three men who we believe are co- conspirators in this case," said Inkster Detective Richard Rashad. "The defendant, we believe masterminded this robbery."

Rashad said that the defendant's wife, Nicole, wound up testifying in the case after she was called by the defense.

> "When she took the stand, it gave the prosecutor an opportunity to cross-examine her. We believe that she didn't help the defense's case any."
>
> Richard Rashad

"When she took the stand, it gave the prosecutor an opportunity to cross-examine her. We believe that she didn't help the defense's case any."

Nicole Lake is not a suspect in the robbery, according to Rashad, although she had been working the night that the alleged armed robbery took place.

In the original police report, filed Jan. 27, Nicole Lake told police that she was in the hallway near the back door when the robbers forced their way into the building. She said that the robbers threatened to kill her, taped her hands and mouth and sat her at a desk.

According to that report, the robbers told the Lakes to show them were the office safe was and they obliged. The robbers then proceeded to loot the safe of its contents and stuffed the bills in a duffle bag.

"Our investigation pointed to the fact that Clarence Lake played a major role in this robbery, therefore he was arrested," said Rashad.

Judge Sylvia James found that there was enough evidence presented by the assistant Wayne County Prosecutor to bind Clarence Lake over for trial. Lake's bond, however, was reduced from $35,000 to $15,000. His arraignment in the Recorder's Court will take place at 9 a.m. March 29.

Deep well attorney retracts settling for non-hazardous liquid

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The new attorney for the controversial Environmental Disposal Systems deep well project last week retracted the idea that EDS would settle for only a non-hazardous liquid injection system in the future.

Attorney Laurence Ternan told the five member Romulus Zoning Board of Appeals members Wednesday night that if the EDS wins city approval for its non-hazardous well operations, it then would file with the Environmental Protection Agency to accept hazardous liquid waste. That secondary process would take another two years.

The Wednesday night meeting got off to a rocky start, as special City Attorney Steven Winters complained that Ternan was entering previously unannounced witnesses and written testimony into the ZBA hearing.

ZBA Chairman Norman McLenon allowed verbal testimony from the witnesses and said they may be asked to return at the next meeting, March 22, to face questioning from the team of city lawyers on either their verbal testimony or the written EDS packet that was presented at the hearing.

McLenon said the EDS packet information was "too much (for the board) to digest at the Wednesday night meeting."

The new EDS attorney said the witnesses were called to answer areas of concern raised by citizens last November, after any witness lists were exchanged.

Ternan later created a stir among well protesters when he offered a clarification of EDS intentions on long term operations of the injection well.

Ternan said the former EDS attorney Norman Hyman had stated before the board that EDS would amend its application to seek only a non- hazardous use of the well.

He explained that EDS would like that testimony amended and returned to leaving the option for EDS to later seek a hazardous permit.

The EDS attorney then told the ZBA that he didn't see the question of what types of elements were to be injected into the well as a relevant issue in this hearing.

Sensing his statement was causing a problem with the zoning board, Ternan said "possibly I stated the issue too harshly."

He added that he feel that the key issue is how the injection well is to be operated safely.

Citizen protesters then began noisily waving their anti-well posters, causing McLenon to direct, "I have no problem with you holding up your signs, but refrain from disrupting the testimony."

An unidentified member of the audience then jumped up and shouted, "I can't handle that...I'm going home to watch OJ" (referring to the Simpson murder trial).

New EDS Vice President Austin Marshall, a 20-year veteran of handling hazardous waste transportation issues, then provided extensive testimony on the EDS transportation and on-site operations plans.

He stressed double piping plans, quality trucking operations and multiple safety efforts in the case of hazardous liquid spills.

At each level of his talk, Marshall stressed, the plans would be submitted to the city's Planning Commission for approval.

The zoning hearings on the well issue will continue at 7:30 p.m. March 22 in the City Council chambers.

Plight of homeless probed

Next Sunday, the plight of area homeless people will be probed in an article by staff writer Ivan Helfman.

The article will be featured in the new Eyewitness Sunday publication of Michigan Community Newspapers.

The subject for the March 19 story was prompted by community interest and controversy over the plight of the homeless. Some areas have established homeless shelters and soup kitchens.

Residents have mixed feelings - pity, compassion, empathy, fear and disgust - when the encounter the homeless.

Helfman will explore their problems and community reaction to their predicament in his March 19 article.

Van Buren Township artist Jane Kovacs drew the accompanying sketch of an individual she observed searching through trash cans to focus attention on the homeless.

Sumpter wins first round in lawsuit

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

After intense negotiations failed to bring about an amicable settlement, Circuit Court Judge James Rashid took three steps to resolve Sumpter Township's lawsuit to allow the expansion of Carleton Farms Landfill.

Garbage disposal tipping fees from the proposed expansion, which had been blocked by a temporary restraining order obtained by Wayne County, would be worth more than $500,000 per year to Sumpter. The money is necessary for the township to complete the bulk of its sanitary sewer system and other infrastructure improvements.

Sumpter Supervisor Marvin Banotai said he feels that Judge Rashid's actions will allow the landfill to expand its capacity from 21 to 37 million cubic-yards of garbage, increasing the annual tipping fees to the township from $525,000 to $1,010,981.

Wayne County is fighting to permanently halt the expansion and enshrine the 21 million cubic-yard size in the county's solid waste plan.

can was impressed with the quick response efforts of the American Red Cross.

Duncan was motivated to give a helping hand during clean-up efforts, but the Red Cross turned him down. He was not qualified to help because he hadn't been properly trained to work on disasters. He was encouraged to give the Red Cross a call when he returned to Michigan.

"I understood what they were saying, it was just frustrating," said Duncan.

For more than a year now, Duncan has been a trained volunteer for the Southeastern Michigan Chapter of the Red Cross. His responsibilities include being on call two days a week for local emergencies as a disaster services volunteer.

"I work two 12-hour shifts with three other volunteer team members from the metro area on fire or storm calls," said Duncan.

The support he and his other team members offer are usually for families that have been affected by a fire and require food, shelter and clothing.

Duncan's training includes mass care, family services, and damage assessments. He is also a member of the Red Cross Disaster Action Team (DAT).

The retired volunteer was able to use his skills he acquired through DAT training and assist the Coast Guard with an oil spill in the Detroit River.

In addition to his volunteering during the week he also is on call for 24-hour periods on the weekends and drives a truck that transports blood collections to donation sites.

"I drive cancer and kidney dialysis patients to and from treatment, as well as blood donors to and from their homes," said Duncan.

Both Duncan and his wife, Barbara, volunteer their free time and skills. Barbara works in shelters throughout the community.

"Young people can develop skills through volunteering and do something worthwhile," said Duncan.

For more information on a position or the free training the Red Cross offers call (313) 494-2860.

Senator offers crime prevention suggestions

Senator Loren Bennett addressed his colleagues last week in a speech titled, "Crime Prevention Week: A Time for Citizens to Renew Personal Efforts and Commitment to Preventing Crime.

"Michigan recognizes the importance of law and order during Crime Prevention Week, and I am using this opportunity to encourage constituents in my district to take the extra precautions necessary to assist in the prevention of crime in our area," the senator said. "Sadly, statistics show that nearly every American will be affected by crime sometime in their life, whether directly or indirectly by association with a crime victim.

"In recent years the Legislature has passed tougher sentencing guidelines and enacted new laws focusing more on the rights of victims and correcting the injustices of our justice system. They have worked to ensure consecutive versus concurrent sentencing, the abolishment of early parole for violent offenders, the notification of former victims upon a criminal's release, and the enactment of new crimes such as stalking and home invasion," said Bennett.

Current issues facing the legislature this year include prison reform, bail reform, car jacking and prison privatization, among other important measures.

"However, now is when I'd like to remind every individual how you can assist federal, state and local government in the fight against crime. You can help by observing simple, but oft-neglected safety measures, such as making sure doors and windows are securely locked -- even when family members are at home and during the day -- including garages and other outlying buildings and vehicles. Homes should be well lit at night and trusted neighbors, as well as local law enforcement officials, notified when you'll be away. Removing the temptation for crime opportunities ensures your personal safety more than can be calculated," Bennett said.

"Other recommendations include educating your children very early on with messages of safety--not to answer the door to strangers nor admit callers when an adult is not at home. Children should report immediately to parents, teachers or other figures of authority any approaches by strangers en route to school and home, or during time spent on the playground or at the park with friends," the senator said.

Safety tips for nearly any situation and for educating individuals of various ages, including adults, may be obtained through your local law enforcement agencies.

To become even more involved, ask how you can participate in local programs such as Crime Stoppers and Neighborhood Watch.

"I want to reiterate, while the costs of crime upon our society have reached outrageous proportions and with tougher sentencing guidelines, prison overcrowding and its associated costs have also become an issue -- there is nothing that can save both taxpayers and victims as much as prevention. If the crime does not occur, neither does the agony experienced by victims and their families," the senator said. "Innocent citizens should not live in fear in their own neighborhoods and the Legislature is doing everything it can to alleviate the dangers of criminals and the activities of gangs."

In the meantime, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," may sound like a cliche, but it still rings true, especially when considered in relation to your own family. Please join me in my efforts to make our neighborhoods more safe," Bennett concluded.

Senator Loren Bennett

7 candidates selected for Wayne-Westland school post

By KIMBERLY WOLOSKIE
MCN Staff Writer

The field of applicants for the Wayne-Westland superintendent position have been narrowed to seven.

School board members screened applicants this week to fill the void of resigning Superintendent Larry J. Thomas. Applications were received from across the country from potential candidates seeking the position.

Of the seven semi-finalists, three are out-of-state educators, and four are from Michigan. The seven candidates will be involved in a 90-minute, cable cast interview starting March 22 and continuing through March 24.

The board unanimously agreed on the seven finalists who will participate in the interview process. Once the first round of interviews is completed, board members may ask approximately one to three candidates back for second interviews.

The board unanimously agreed on the seven finalists...

The seven potential candidates are Thomas. G. Scullen, superintendent in Indian Prarie/Naperville school district, Illinois; Margaret McMaster, assistant superintendent, Northville; Steve Farrar, deputy superintendent of personnel, Yuma, Ariz.; Dwayne Moore, superintendent, South Lyon; Harold E. Winkler, superintendent, Hernando County Schools, Hernando, Fla.; William Kiefer, superintendent, Allen Park; and Joe E. Gonzales, superintendent, Bay City public schools.

The superintendent candidates will be asked a variety of questions during the 90-minute interview pertaining to personal qualifications, educational experience, leadership skills, past staff and community involvement, and future goals and strategies for the school district.

LAWSUIT

1) He deciared the Michigan Department of Natural Resource's recent amendment of Wayne County's solid waste plan null and void because it unconstitutionally required that 75 percent of the trash originate in-state. The amendment had given the green light to the expansion, provoking Wayne County to obtain the restraining order.

2) He ordered the DNR to decide, by March 20, if the expansion complies with the state's 1990 solid waste act. Previously, the DNR has ruled that the expansion was in compliance.

3) He set a March 20 hearing, at which time he will OK the expansion if the DNR once again finds the expansion plans in compliance.

Banotai was pleased by judge's order.

"I feel good that the expansion is going back to the DNR because in December they issued a letter that said that the expansion was in compliance."

Another reason for confidence is the DNR's status in the suit. Sumpter and the DNR are co-defendents.

However, whatever the Judge rules, both sides have said that they would appeal.

How the county will finance an appeal or counterappeal is unclear because the County Commission has not agreed to pay legal expenses, according to County Commissioner Bruce Patterson (R-Canton).

With the original $15,000 spent, Patterson concluded that the county attorneys are working without pay.

Wayne's lawsuit was filed by County Executive Ed McNamara, who used his authority to spend $15,000 to pay for the litigation. But the commissioners refused to approve any more funding, despite Wayne corporation attorney Jennifer Gronholm's request for an additional $60,000.

Instructions

Associated Newspapers invite you to have fun meeting these singles who are also looking for that "Perfect Match". It's as simple as this:

1. To respond to an ad

By Phone: Call to meet them now. First, find one or more singles on these pages that you'd like to have fun meeting. Call 1-900-884-4777 ($1.99 per minute). By using our unique "QuickConnect" system, our operators can call up whomever you'd like to talk with, let them hear your recording, and if that person is home, the two of you could be having fun planning your first date together tonight. Or, you can leave them messages in their Voicemail boxes and let them call you back. The only charge for our service is $1.99 per minute billed to your monthly phone bill, and, of course, you must be 18 or older to call.

By Mail: Place each response in a STAMPED envelope with the code number marked CLEARLY on the front. Put your response in a larger envelope, along with $5.00 per response and mail to:

Regal Eagles
801 W. Freeway, Suite 830
Grand Prairie, Tx 75051

2. To get your FREE voicemail box

Simply call 1-800-ROMANCE Ext 1001. Our operators will quickly assist you in making your own FREE voice recording and assign you a personal recording number so that you can meet other singles.

3. To place your ad

Simply call 1-800-ROMANCE (1-800-766-2623) Ext 1001. Our operators will help you compose an ad, and we'll be happy to include it in the next available issue.

4. Retrieve your own VoiceMail messages by calling 1-900-884-4777 ($1.99 per min.), 24 hours a day, 7 days per week.

For more information, call Singles Telephone Company at 1-800-ROMANCE Ext 1001. You can leave voicemail messages and pick up your voicemail messages 24 hours a day. You can use our unique "Quick-Connect" system from 9AM-10PM Monday-Saturday, and Noon to 10PM on Sundays. Have fun finding your "Perfect Match"!
